ARMY BOMBER CRACKS UP IN SEVERE STORM

Craft Cuts 150-Yard Path Through Wooded Area, Catches Fire.

MAKING ROUTINE FLIGHT

Plane Was En Route From Georgia to Alabama; Storm Blocks Rescuers.

(By Associated Press)

LA GRANGE, Ga.—The storm-bred crash of a twin-engined army bombing plane in an isolated woodland swamp last night killed six army fliers and severely injured another.

An eighth man believed aboard the big air destroyer when it went down in a driving rain was unaccounted for and searchers feared his body was in the still smouldering wreckage.

5 Bodies Found.

Four bodies soon were found within a few yards of the smoking debris, a fifth was discovered in the wreckage later and the twisted metal still resisted efforts to locate another body late this morning.

Second Lieut. John Madre and Pvt. Joseph J. Nanartowich were brought into a hospital here and Nanartowich died a few hours later. Madre was badly hurt and physicians said he might die.

Immediate identification of the bodies found in the plane was impossible because they were badly burned.

Second Lieut. Robert Kirkland Black.

Second Lieut. Rolff McKechnie.

Second Lieut. Allen M. Mowery.

Sergt. Harry J. Jones.

Lieut. James W. Stewart of the Army Medical corps, assigned to Randolph Field.

Corp. Galloway, assigned to the third weather squadron at Dallas, Tex.

Headed for Alabama.

Mitchell Field officers said the army bomber was on a routine flight to Montgomery, Ala.

The plane wrecked in a heavy rainstorm, striking with terrific force.

A colored man heard the crash and saw the flames when the ship caught fire. He came to LaGrange for help, but it was several hours before rescuers could make their way to the scene because of the condition of the roads.

Roosevelt Clears Desk, Prepares For Georgia Vacation

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt worked today to clear his desk of a mass of business before transferring the center of governmental activity to the southland for the next two weeks.

He will leave late tomorrow for Warm Springs, Ga., where between swims in the health resort's outdoor pool, he expects to hold conferences on the new legislative program. There is a possibility, too, that Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson will go there when he returns from Berlin to give Mr. Roosevelt a first-hand account of the happenings in Germany.

In his white cottage atop Pine mountain, the president also may sign several important appointments, including some for the 20 federal judgeships vacancies, unless these are attended to before he leaves. Most of these places are newly created. The president discussed nominees for the post yesterday with Attorney General Cummings.

ATATURK BURIED

Solemn Ceremonial Held For Turkey's President-Dictator.

ISTANBUL —(INS)— With solemn, impressive ceremonial, the body of Kemal Ataturk, late president-dictator and founder of modern Turkey, was conveyed to Ankara for burial today.

Ataturk has been lying in state at the presidential palace here since his death. Hundreds of thousands of Turks filed past his bier, paying him homage.

Better'n A Fish Story Any Day

BAKER, Ore.—(AP)—Just as John Cutting and a companion were starting on an elk hunt, they were called to the farm of John Brant on an errand.

In a field adjacent to the Brant farmyard stood two bull elk nibbling at a haystack.

The hunters got out their guns, bagged their limit before they could start their hunt.

AUTOS OF GRID FANS STREAM THROUGH CITY

Mansfield's Large Delegation Joins Caravan En Route to Ohio-Michigan Game.

Mansfield was well aware of the fact that today was the day of the Ohio State-Michigan game in Columbus.

Starting at an early hour, a steady stream of automobiles from northern Ohio drove through the city toward Columbus. The football caravan was increased by a big Mansfield delegation.

Occupants of these cars were expected to tax the capacity of the Ohio stadium for the game which has an important bearing on the outcome of the Big Ten title.

This is the first time in recent renewals of this ancient rivalry that the Wolverines went into the contest the favorites.

Many other football-minded Mansfielders took northeastern Ohio routes to Massillon where the mythical state high school championship was to be decided by a game between undefeated-untied Massillon and Canton, both victorious over the Mansfield Tygers by virtually the same score.

Irish-Wildcats In Headline.

Sharing the Big Ten bill with the Columbus game was the clash of Minnesota and Wisconsin, with the latter team favored. Nationally, the Notre Dame-Northwestern game was the headline attraction.

Duke, only unscored on major team in the nation, can clinch the southern title by beating North Carolina State.

In the east, Yale tangled with Harvard in one of the country's oldest traditional games. Harvard was favored to win the Big Three crown by beating the Blues.

NOT INTERESTED

State Gives W. Fourth Overpass Plan Cold Shoulder.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter went to Columbus yesterday seeking aid for the construction of an overpass at the West Fourth street crossing of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, but came back with definite assurance that the long sought sewer rental contract between the city and the Ohio state reformatory had been accepted by the state welfare department.

Accompanied by city and county officials in his plea for federal funds to affect the grade crossing elimination, Hunter said the project received little consideration.

Failing to obtain any satisfaction from state highway department officials, Hunter and Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist called upon welfare department officials regarding the sewer rental contract which expired last March.

Oakley Spaght, assistant director, informed them that the new contract calling for a more than 300 per cent increase in revenue had been signed by the welfare board and was now awaiting approval of the attorney general.

'TREAT' AWAITS O. S. R. INMATES

They'll Eat in New $175,000 Dining Hall Thanksgiving If Equipment Arrives.

By CHARLES MARTIN

Some 3,050 inmates at the Ohio State reformatory will have a real "treat" in store for them Thanksgiving day — providing special equipment arrives at the institution on time.

That equipment, scheduled to be delivered at the reformatory in the next few days, is all that is needed to complete construction of the cooking and baking machinery and throw into operation the new and spacious dining hall, built this year from a special appropriation voted by the state legislature.

The one-story brick structure, erected inside the high gray walls at a cost of $175,00, is 900 feet long, 80 feet wide and 30 feet high. It will replace an old hall, discarded because it was inadequate to handle the increasing number of inmates, Supt. Arthur L. Glattke stated.

This spic-and-span dining room, the interior of which is finished in cream colored paint, constructed to serve meals in cafeteria style, four lines at a time, is capable of seating 1,320 inmates at a time, and can serve nearly 1,500 in an hour, Glattke said.

The inmates will enter the hall from the large main doors on the

WITNESS SHOT

Three Bullets In Body of Figure In Ex-Gangster's Trial.

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Lee Baker, 39, principal state's witness against Isadore Londe, former Egan gangster charged with the bombing of a cleaning shop, was found, shot three times, beside a little-used road early today.

BURNS COST LIFE OF BUCYRUS GIRL

Child, 13, Fatally Hurt When Kerosene Explodes.

BUCYRUS—Jean Nelson, 13, of 532 Prospect street, died in the City hospital today of burns suffered when a can of kerosene exploded while attempting to start a fire in a coal heater late yesterday afternoon. She was burned over her entire body.

Her father, Clyde, a night watchman at the railroad yards, was sleeping in an adjoining room at the time of the explosion, and he rushed her to the hospital. The interior of the home was damaged to the extent of $1,000 by the fire that followed the explosion.

The only survivors are her parents. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

RIOT ON BORDER

Czechs Say Hungarian, Polish Terrorists Kill Six.

PRAGUE—(AP)—The official Czechoslovak news agency today said terrorist bands from Hungary and Poland had been causing trouble on the border of Ruthenia for two days. Six deaths were reported.

However, order prevails generally throughout Ruthenia, the eastern autonomous region of Czechoslovakia, the agency said.

Czechoslovak official sources attributed terrorism to attempts to persuade Germany and Italy to give Poland and Hungary a common frontier through cession of Ruthenia to Hungary.

HITS ROOSEVELT

Franco's Regime Hits U. S. Stand on Jewish Problem.

BARCELONA—(INS)—The Spanish insurgent regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, in a radio broadcast picked up here, today violently attacked President Roosevelt for sympathizing with German Jews.

The broadcaster, who spoke from Salamanca, declared that the reich's measures against Jews were "completely justified."

EGYPT TO ARM

Boy King Says Defenses to Be Strengthened Considerably.

CAIRO—(AP)—King Farouk, opening a new session of Egypt's parliament today, dedicated his nation to an extensive rearmament program as a sequel to the September European crisis.

The 18-year-old king, who became a father Thursday, declared the Egyptian air force would be strengthened considerably.

SCHOOL BUSES TO GET FLAGS

Stop Signals, New Precaution for Safety, Planned by Auto Club.

A new safety precaution for Richland county school children who ride school buses—stop flags, to be displayed whenever passengers are entering or leaving the buses—will be adopted in the near future.

The stop flags will be provided by the Richland County Automobile club, Frank Beverstock, secretary, announced at the association's annual meeting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel last night.

Under the club's new plan, whenever a school bus stops to pick up or discharge a pupil, two boys will display the warning flags, one at the rear and one at the front of the bus, halting all traffic before the bus doors are opened.

The state law requires that all traffic stop for a halted school bus. The new plan will help enforce the law, Beverstock said.

Two hundred and six persons attended the dinner meeting, the

OFFER TO GIVE EYE REJECTED

Convict Would Give Up Optic at Price of Freedom.

JACKSON, Mich.—(UP)—Officials of southern Michigan prison and the state corrections department today rejected the proposal of a 24-year-old convict to give up his right eye to a sightless man in return for his freedom.

The convict, Marby Underwood of Detroit, serving a two to 10-year term for obtaining money under false pretenses, offered his right eye because his wife was homeless and needed him.

Assistant Warden D. C. Pettit, turned down Underwood's bargain upon the advice of Hilmer Gellein, state corrections director. Gellein said the state was not in the bargaining business and would not consider the plea.

GETS HER PAPERS

Actress Luise Rainer Receives U. S. Citizenship Rights.

HOLLYWOOD —(INS)— It was Citizen Rainer today. And was she—Luise Rainer, the noted actress—proud of that.

The gifted star, who has twice won the Motion Picture Academy award, became an American citizen yesterday in federal court here, taking the oath of allegiance before Judge Jeremiah Neter.

HIDES HIMSELF IN FURNITURE VAN TO ESCAPE

SEARCH AT DEPOT FAILS

Fugitive Helped Load Vehicle; Escape Second From Within Walls in Last Week.

An escape in real movie thriller fashion was staged at the Ohio State reformatory yesterday by an inmate who rode through the institution gates to freedom in a furniture van.

It was the second escape from inside the walls in the past week. Last Friday two inmates fled over the wall with a rope fashioned from short lengths of cord taken from one of the factories. They were captured the following day in Columbus after they wrecked a stolen car.

Sentenced As Delinquent.

The fugitive who escaped yesterday is Norman Walker, 20, who has been at the reformatory since February, 1936. He was sentenced from Mahoning county as a juvenile delinquent.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said Walker turned up missing at the "supper count" shortly after 5 p. m. and was believed to have secreted himself in a furniture van which had left the institution factory only a short time before.

Walker worked in the furniture factory and had helped to load the truck which makes a daily trip to the freight station.

Jumps En Route to Station.

A posse of guards was dispatched to the depot on North Main street a mile from the reformatory. With drawn guns they surrounded the truck but a search revealed no fugitive.

They found the tarpaulin on the van slashed indicating that the inmate had stowed away in the furniture and made his getaway while enroute to the station.

The posse searched the reformatory grounds and adjacent properties until long after dark without finding any trace of the youth.

Glattke said that all vehicles leaving the institution grounds are inspected at the main gate by guards but that Walker apparently had been overlooked in the load.

LEWIS PROUD

Estimates Potential Power of CIO at 20,000,000.

PITTSBURGH —(INS)— John L. Lewis proudly led his Congress of Industrial Organizations to the front lines of America's political, economic and social battlegrounds today as a permanent wing of organized labor.

He served firm notice that the new CIO is a force to be reckoned with, and is ready to do battle in every field where the welfare of the worker is at stake.

He laid claim to a following of more than 4,000,000 members proper, and estimated the potential strength of CIO support at 20,000,000, counting dependents.

MILK SHORTAGE

Indiana Dairy Strike Menaces Supply to 130,000.

SOUTH BEND—(AP)—The 130,000 residents of South Bend and neighboring Mishawaka had no milk today because of a strike for a closed shop at the Reliable dairy. Other daires withheld deliveries for fear of violence. Hospitals and similar institutions were supplied.

PROTESTANTS IN GERMANY HIT BY RELIGIOUS CURB

Also Order Names of Jewish Prophets Obliterated Under Threat Churches Will Be Burned; Wealthy Jews Sign Away 90 Per Cent of Property.

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—The name of Jehovah was ordered erased from Protestant churches throughout Nazi Germany today by President Friedrich Werner of the supreme Evangelical Church council.

His order said the name of the God of Israel must be obliterated wherever it is displayed in Protestant churches. The names of Jewish prophets of the Old Testament also were ordered erased.

This action was regarded as a sequel to threats in various parts of Saxony that Christian churches allowing these names to remain would be burned as were synagogues in the wave of anti-Jewish violence which swept Germany last week.

The newspaper Boersenzeitung said Nazi leaders, long before this outbreak and the subsequent $400,000,000 fine imposed on the Jewish community, had made ready to despoil Jews financially. It declared that "the promptness with which the bill was presented showed the preparations had been made long in advance."

"All informed persons knew that financial action was bound to follow political action in the process of aryanization.

"Von Rath's murder only precipitated this intended course of action."

All Follows Shooting.

The outbreaks, in which synagogues were burned, Jewish-owned property destroyed and thousands of Jews arrested, followed close on the shooting of Ernst von Rath, German embassy secretary in Paris, by a young Polish Jew, Herschel Grynzpan.

"It is not the government's intention to segregate Jews in ghettos nor forbid them to shop in Aryan stores," said Boersenzeitung.

The newspaper suggested the question of what should become of Jews evicted from their homes should be solved by quartering them with their more wealthy co-religionists.

Addressing a Nazi business organization last night, Robert Ley, chief of the Nazi labor front, declared "there must be no misplaced compassion for the Jews.

"By fattening on our population they have incurred a debt that can never be wiped out."

Isolated instances of anti-Semitic activities continued to be reported.

Munich reports said several wealthy Jews in Nurnberg, home of the radically anti-Jewish Julius Streicher, had been taken into labor front headquarters there and forced to sign away 90 per cent of their homes, shops and other property to the labor front. Then they were told to leave Nurnberg within three months.

The German envoy to Washington, Hans Dieckhoff, was ordered yesterday to return to Berlin for a report on American reaction to the anti-Jewish campaign. This came four days after President Roosevelt called United States Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson home for a report.

Borah In Protest of Roosevelt Stand.

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Senator Borah (R-IDA) expressed the opinion today that any attempt to revise the immigration laws so as to take care of additional refugees from Germany would arouse "tremendous opposition" in congress.

"I do not believe it desirable to undertake to change the immigration laws at this time," he said. "Any possible change would be wholly inadequate for real relief."

President Roosevelt told his press conference yesterday that he had no thought of liberalizing present quotas which restrict immigration from Germany and former Austria to 27,370 persons annually.

Some Jewish leaders, however, have suggested the possibility of admitting 80,000 or so refugees immediately by "mortgaging" the quotas for the next three years. Under this proposal, the three years' quota would be admitted and the gates then closed until the end of the period.

Another congressional comment came from Chairman Dies (D-Tex) of the house committee investigating unAmerican activities who challenged the right of the president to extend the six-months' visitors permits under which from 12,000 to 15,000 refugees have been admitted.

Mr. Roosevelt disclosed that he he had asked the labor department to grant six-months' extension. He added that he would present this problem to congress and that if it did not act, the permits might be extended again. The law, he said, does not limit the number of extensions.

The Purge In Short

BERLIN—(INS)—The German official news agency, DNB, stated today that official quarters deny allegations published by the Manchester Guardian that 200 Jews were executed in Germany in conection with the slaying of Ernst Von Rath.

KAUNAS, Lithuania—(AP)—Dr. Ernest Neumann, Memel German leader, announced today the formation of a uniformed German youth movement similar to the Hitler youth in Germany and declared he would follow Nazi racial policy in the Memel territory.

BERLIN—(AP)—Seventy-seven foreign newspapers were seized today and their sale forbidden. Among those banned were the Nov. 6 and 7 issues of the New York Times. Recent issues of the leading Swiss, Danish, British, French, Belgian, Norwegian, Swedish, Rumanian, Yugoslav, Czechoslovak, Polish and Vatican City dailies were confiscated.

LONDON—(UP)—The United States and Great Britain are being drawn closer together as the result of Germany's tactics at home and abroad, diplomatic quarters said today. They believed that as the German-American breach grew wider, the democracies would co-operate even more closely.

NEW YORK—(UP)—The committee for political refugees announced today that Col. Fulgencio Batista, commander-in-chief of the Cuban army, had promised Cuba's aid in finding a refuge for German Jews. Lawrence Berenson, chairman of the committee said a definite plan was being drawn up and that Col. Batista had promised prompt action on it.

NEW YORK—(AP)—A proposal that Alaska be opened to victims of Nazi anti-Semitic measures followed today announcement that Spain and Cuba had offered haven to refugees from Germany. Declaring Alaskans "continuously appeal for new settlers," Rep. Charles A. Buckley (D-NY) said he would be happy to introduce a bill at the next congress excluding Alaska from quota restrictions of the immigration law.

Dec. 6 Big Day For Tygers— It's Date of Football Banquet

The schedule has been completed, the uniforms and equipment have been stored away until next fall and the players have turned their attention to winter sports, but the Mansfield high school football season is not complete yet.

No, not until Tuesday, Dec. 6. That's the day of The News-Journal's football banquet. No season is complete without it.

This year's pigskin party will be the fourth annual staged by The News-Journal, and the affair will be just as big as ever, if not bigger.

The fact that the Tygers did not fare as successfully on the gridiron as in other recent seasons will have no effect on plans for the banquet.

Details for the annual affair have not been completed, but a "big name" coach will again be the speaker. His identity will be revealed in the near future.

The banquet again will be held in the ballroom at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Works of Old Masters Thrill 600 As Concert Series Opens

The masterful rendition of compositions of the immortal Schubert and Beethoven, and the works of Brahms, Schumann and Chopin thrilled an audience of 600 at Mansfield High school auditorium last night as the Civic Music association opened its second season here.

The artist was Hortense Monath, brilliant American pianist, the first of three famed musicians who will appear here during the fall and winter months.

Miss Monath opened the program with two Schubert Impromtus and followed with the presentation of the four movements of the Beethoven Sonata, Opus 2, No. 2. Colorful and charming the introductory movement, the "allegro vivace," was bright and cheerful. In the "largo appassionato" the listeners were easily able to distinguish the hymn-like quality of the music.

The concluding half of the Sonata, which was doubtlessly the best performance of the program, showed to good advantage the mastery of the artist.

Thre short, and somewhat doleful selections, the Schumann numbers followed. These were "Aufschwung," "Warnm" and "Grillen." Miss Monath played them with feeling and understanding,

CHURCHGOERS TO GIVE THANKS AT UNION RITES

City Congregations to Join Wednesday, Thursday for Annual Services.

Thanksgiving day will be observed next Wednesday and Thursday in Mansfield churches with union services at St. Paul Lutheran, St. Matthew's Lutheran and First Christian churches, and other services at St. John's Evangelical and the First Lutheran churches.

The union service for downtown congregations will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday at First Christian church and will unite members of the First Methodist, First United Brethren, United Presbyterian, First Presbyterian, First Congregational and First Christian churches. Congregations of the Central Methodist Episcopal, St. Matthew's Lutheran and Park Avenue Baptist churches hold their union services at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at St. Matthew's church, and the St. Paul Lutheran and St. Luke's Lutheran will follow a standing custom and unite at 10 a. m. Thursday at St. Paul's.

Rev. H. H. Ford, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, will preach the sermon at the union service for the downtown churches. His subject will be "The Average Man's Thanksgiving." Music will be furnished by the choir of the Christian church.

Preaches at St. Matthew's.

The sermon at St. Matthew's Lutheran church will be given by Rev. Paul Hollingshead, pastor of the Central Methodist church.

Music will be furnished by the choir of the Lutheran church. Rev. Charles Sheriff, pastor of St. Matthew's, and Rev. Hayes M. Braker, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will take part in the service.

Rev. Herbert S. Garnes, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church, will deliver the Thanksgiving sermon at the union service at St. Paul church for members of the two congregations. The liturgical service will be conducted by Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor of the host church.

Music will include the anthem, "This is the Day Which the Lord Hath Made," sung by St. Paul's choir under the direction of Mrs. Herman L. Gilbert. O. L. Seybold will accompany the group at the organ. Miss Jane Weuthrick will sing a soprano solo. The congregation of St. Mark's Lutheran church has been invited to take part in this service.

The Thanksgiving service at St. John's Evangelical church will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday. Rev. Paul H. Saleste, pastor, will have as his sermon subject, "Let Us Give Thanks."

The First Lutheran church will hold its annual service at 9 a. m. Thursday, with Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor, preaching on "America Needs God." The choir presents a Thanksgiving cantata, "The Song of Thanksgiving," by Maumer, at 7:30 p. m. Sunday. The sermon will be given by Rev. Milton P. Englehardt, assistant pastor. His subject will be "Worshiping God."

Conducts Services

Rev. W. G. Weston, above, and son, William, of Elizabeth, Pa., will open a series of evangelistic meetings at 7:30 p. m. Sunday at the Grace Gospel Tabernacle, 85 East Third street. Rev. Weston is an evangelist in the Christian and Missionary Alliance, and will speak every evening at the tabernacle at 7:30.

MISSIONARY TO PREACH SUNDAY

Cincinnati Doctor Speaks Twice at South Main Church.

Dr. W. T. Reed of Cincinnati, Jewish missionary, will speak Sunday morning and evening at the South Main Street Evangelical church.

Dr. Reed is a minister and medical doctor and spent several years as a medical missionary in Korea. He is now serving as a missionary to the Jews in Cincinnati. His messages Sunday will be on the present crisis of the Jewish people in other countries.

The morning worship is at 10:30 and evening service at 7:30. The former will be under the direction of the Women's Missionary society, and will be their annual thank offering program.

JOIN IN CANTATA

Junior Chorus, South Main Choir To Present Program Dec. 18.

The combined Junior Civic Chorus and South Main Street Evangelical church choir will present the Christmas cantata, "Bethlehem," by Maunder, Sunday, Dec. 18, at the South Main church.

The two groups will be made up of 50 voices and will be under the direction of J. Frederick Wolf, director of the Junior chorus. Rehearsals for the cantata will begin at 2 p. m. Sunday at the First Lutheran church.

SERVICE AT TEMPLE

A special service of worship Sunday at Temple Emmanuel, 132 West Second street, was announced today by Rabbi David Rub. The service will begin at 11 a. m.

SIMPSON CHOIR TAKES PART IN SUNDAY SERVICE

Junior High Group to Sing at Congregational Church; Other Church Notes.

The John Simpson Junior high school A Cappella choir, directed by A. L. Derr, will join in 10:45 a. m. service Sunday at the First Congregational church. The choir will sing one number, "Prayer Perfect," by Stenson. The church choir will present "My Face Looks Up to Thee," by Schnecker, with a violin obbligato by Dale Bechtel.

Miss Louise Krause, organist, will play two selections, "Melody For the Bells of Bergliall Church," by Sibelius, and "Now Thank We All Our God," by Dupre.

Rev. Peter Young, pastor, will preach on the subject, "The Grace of Gratitude."

MUSICAL PROGRAM

Rachmaninoff's "Triumph Thanksgiving" sung by the senior choir, will be a feature of the musical program Sunday at the Park Avenue Baptist church during the 10 a. m. worship service.

Other numbers during the service will include a vocal solo, "Lord Make Me Strong," by Miss Gladys Shingleton, and three organ selections by Lawrence S. Frank, minister of music. He will play "Cantabile," by Franck, "O Haupt vill Blut und Wunden," by Reger, and "Fugue in G Major," by Bach. Rev. Hayes M. Braker, pastor, will speak on the subject, "Judas, Not Iscariot."

Church events scheduled for next week are dart-ball practice and orchestra rehearsal both at 7:30 p. m. Monday, and a meeting of the Earnest Workers' class at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. A. O. Widders, 26 Poplar street.

'SOUL AND BODY'

Lesson Sermon Will Be Read at Scientist Church Sunday.

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "Yea, in the way of thy judgments, O Lord, have we waited for thee; the desire of our soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee" (Isaiah 26:8).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon . . . Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?" (Matthew 6:24, 25).

FILLS PULPIT

Lucas Pastor to Preach Tomorrow at St. Matthew's Church.

Rev. Carl Driscoll, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church at Lucas, will be guest pastor Sunday at St. Mark's Lutheran church at the 10:30 a. m. service. His subject will be, "Closer Than a Brother."

St. Mark's has been without a pastor since Rev. J. Louis Wolf resigned Nov. 1 to accept the pastorate of a Toledo church.

HONORS DEAD

St. John's Church to Conduct Memorial Service Sunday.

The annual memorial service for deceased members of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church will be held during the regular service at 10 a. m. Sunday.

Rev. Paul H. Saleste will preach on the subject, "Only Shadows."

The annual Thanksgiving service of the church will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday, with Rev. Saleste speaking on "Let Us Give Thanks".

Meetings of church groups scheduled during the week are the Ladies guild at 2 p. m. Wednesday, the official board Friday evening, and choir rehearsal at 7:15 p. m. Friday.

CHURCH MARKS BIBLE SUNDAY

St. Paul Pastor Speaks On 'Word of God In 1,000 Tongues.'

A service in recognition of the fact that the Bible has now been translated in 1,000 tongues will be held at 10:30 a. m. Sunday at St. Paul Lutheran church.

Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor, will speak on the subject, "The Word of God In a Thousand Tongues." The order of service as prescribed by the American Bible Society for observing Universal Bible Sunday will be used.

The church choir sings "Rejoice in the Lord," by McPhail. Members of the church will bring foodstuffs for Thanksgiving baskets which will be distributed by the missionary society.

GUEST MINISTER

M. E. Superintendent to Conduct Services at First Church.

Rev. Howard W. Peterson, superintendent of the Mansfield District Methodist Episcopal churches, will be guest minister at the First Methodist church, Sunday during the worship service at 10:30 a. m.

The service will bring to a close the National Fellowship week observance at the church. The church choir, directed by James Weber, will sing "Appear, Thou Light Divine" by Morrison, and a hymn anthem "I Love to Tell the Story". by Fischer.

SPEAKS AT MISSION

Mrs. Charles Young of the Union Gospel Mission will be guest speaker at the Christian and Missionary Alliance, 282 South Main street, Sunday at 3 p. m. Mrs. Young will speak on the subject, "The Prodigal Son and Daughter."

GIVES CANTATA

First Lutheran Choir Presents 'Song of Thanksgiving.'

A Thanksgiving cantata, "The Song of Thanksgiving," by Maumer, will be presented by the choir of the First Lutheran church at 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

The choir of 30 voices will be under the direction of L. A. Cook, and will be accompanied by Mrs. Clayson Bell, organist. Rev. Milton P. Engelhardt, assistant pastor, will speak on the subject, "Worshiping God."

At 9 a. m. Thanksgiving day the church will hold its annual Thanksgiving service with Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor, speaking on "America Needs God."

Nomination of officers for next year will be held at a meeting of the Senior Luther League of the church at 6:30 p. m. Sunday. Topic for discussion during the meeting will be "Stewardships." Music for the meeting will include a saxophone duet by Harold Duda and Ralph Arlin. The nominating committee is made up of Catherine Oates, chairman, George Klipple and Marjorie Siegfried.

Research at the Florida experiment station during its 50 years of activity has resulted in the earning and saving of $25,000,000 annually for the state's farmers.

YOUNG PEOPLE JOIN IN SOCIAL

Thanksgiving Event of Four Rural M. E. Churches Set for Monday Evening.

A Thanksgiving social for young people of the four Methodist churches in Weller and Franklin townships will be held at 7:30 p. m. Monday at Weller high school.

A program including games, has been planned for the evening. About 80 young people from the Olivesburg churches are expected to attend.

Plans for leadership training classes were made at a meeting of workers of the church schools of the four churches Thursday night at Adario.

Named to complete arrangements for the classes were Warren Smith, Tom Crabbe, Ralph K. Oswalt and George Weimer. The workers also voted as their goal for the coming year, a 20 per cent increase in attendance. Missionary superintendents elected at the meeting were Merle S. Wolf of Adario; Mrs. Lee C. Henry of Olivesburg; Mrs. Harry Sir Louis of Franklin, and Walter Hursh of Pavonia.

Members of the World Service councils of the four churches elected at a recent united board meeting of the four churches at Pavonia, were announced today. They are Walter Hursh, chairman, Robert Eggerton, assistant, Pavonia council; Frend Clingan, chairman, Mrs. Harry Sir Louis, assistant, Franklin council; Charles Barnes, chairman, Merle Wolf, assistant, Adario council, and Miss Abigail Swineford, chairman, and Mrs. Lee C. Henry, assistant, Olivesburg council.

A meeting of the official board of the Pavonia church will be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the church.

DISCUSS YOUTH, ITS PERSONALITY

Forum Session Tomorrow Will Be Led by Two Physicians.

"Christian Youth and Its Personality" will be the general theme of the weekly meeting of the Community Christian Youth Forum at 6:30 p. m. Sunday at the First Congregational church.

Leading the discussion will be two Mansfield physicians, Dr. W. E. Wygant, and Dr. D. D. Deeds. The subject will be "Human Physiology and Personality" and will include the physical and mental influences that effect personality.

The worship service will be in charge of Robert Meese, chairman.

READ THIS FIRST

Sara Sue Davis, attractive young widow, with the aid of her mother-in-law, rents a cottage near the campus of Rice Institute, in Texas, in preparation for the launching of a unique business venture.

CHAPTER 2

Mr. Robert Osborne Towne, Rice Institute senior, was a man with no troubles whatsoever.

Once he had known trouble. His dad had been bankrupt in what the older people called a "depression." The net result, on Bob, had been to miss two years of schooling between high school and college. But that had been five years ago. Now Bob was on top of the well-known world.

The well-known world consisted of:

a. Rice Institute, and the incidental remainder of Texas.

b. The Rice Owls, holders of the Southwestern championship in football.

As to the university, Bob had it eating from his hand. He was, in short, president of the student body—testimonial enough to his popularity.

And as to the team—his heavy woolen gray sweater already held a blue R and two arm stripes in blue. A Rice letterman can have only three football stripes. And his senior year was yet to be played.

Oh, yes—one other thing. Perhaps it ought to be listed as "a" above, rather than "c." It was Geraldine Pomeroy, alias "Peaches." She was Bob Towne's girl. Or so everybody said, including Peaches herself.

She was plenty good looking. She had a figure like—like, well, you just ought to see Peaches in a bathing suit! And old man Pomeroy had more millions than East Texas has oil wells. Yep, Mr. Robert Osborne Towne was a man with no troubles whatsoever!

He hung his curly head out of a window of East Hall dormitory now and yodeled, or shrieked, or screamed: "EE-YEA-A-A-A-HAH-ah-ah-ah YEOW!"

This translated, to whomsoever heard it, "Hello, gang, it's great to see you all again!" Many a collegian hailed back. Everybody liked handsome Bob Towne. And handsome Bob Towne liked everybody. His class once voted him the student most-likely-to-succeed; he grinned and said phoney, he had already succeeded. He not only was a shade ahead of everybody else at such fine arts as trucking and doing the big apple, but he originated dance steps of his own. Remember how "The Owl Hop" went like wildfire over Houston last winter? Bob Towne originated that. He and Peaches Pomeroy. People said Bob would go into business with Peaches' father after graduation. Bob hadn't considered that. He hadn't even proposed marriage to Peaches yet; for that matter. To Bob, the past was forgotten, the future was nebulous, the present a glorious time to live.

He stuck his head out the dormitory window again now, because he saw a familiar figure shuffling across the green lawn from Main boulevard.

"HEY, you Calculus!"

"Welcome, Mistuh Bob, suh!" Calculus shouted back.

"Get your old black hide up here before I skin you! Why didn't you meet me at the gate?"

The two were greeting each other across 100 yards or so of space. Bob's room was on fifth floor, East Hall Tower — most prized rooms at Rice Institute. Fifty or so lesser collegians, scattered here and there, heard their conversation. All but the freshmen knew both men.

One strange gentleman, though, heard the boisterous conversation. He was walking with a green umbrella. He wore horn-rimmed spectacles and a very serious expression. He was plainly dressed. He cocked his head to one side, looking up in his appraisal of Bob Towne, and as he approached Calculus he addresed the colored man.

"Pardon," he said, "but could you tell me that student's name?"

"He ain't done nothin', Mistuh Professuh, suh."

"Oh no! No, no. I have no thought of disciplinary action whatsoever. Just — ah — curious." The professor was positively blushing, Calculus noted. Calculus grinned. The negro was keen at reading character.

"He's Mistuh Bob Towne, suh. He the big football end man."

"Oh, yes. Quite so. Thank you."

The professor bowed and went his way. The colored man made a mental note to check up on him. Every September brought four or five new faces to the Rice faculty. Calculus liked to have them all pigeon-holed in his mind. He took pride in being friends with all of them, and here was one a little bit "different."

The colored man labored up the five flights of stairs, pausing every step to accept greetings from upperclassmen, to poke and laugh and enjoy himself. Finally he tapped on Bob's door, hat in hand.

Their conversation lasted half an hour. Calculus had to bring Bob up to date on campus gossip, on Houston news. Incidentally he had to take charge of Bob's cleaning and press, shoe shining, and such incidental services. Both enjoyed the chat. And Calculus had a special mission to complete. He led up to it as soon as he could.

"Mistuh Bob, you jes has to come over and patronize our new bizness 'stablishment, suh."

"What business? You in business?"

"Naw suh! Not me. Ah mean —ah just helps. Miss Sara Sue. Ah works in the yard and kitchen for her. She got her sign out, though."

"What sign?"

"That'n she made. We hung it two hours ago, suh. Look—you can see it down there, through yo window. Right over the hedge. 'Tween them two bigges' ellum trees. You see?"

"Nerts, Calculus, that's a quarter of a mile. What kind of business? Who is Miss Sara Sue? What does the sign say?"

"I can't say, suh."

"Didn't you hang it for her?"

"You knows I can't read, Mistuh Bob. What for you—"

"You been around Rice ten years and—"

"—fo'teen, suh—"

"—and still can't read! Calculus, I'm going to educate you if I have to torture you, you lazy, lowdown—what kind of sign, Calculus?" The two were grinning. Good friends cannot insult each other in words. It's better than drawing room polish if the respect is genuine.

But Calculus didn't get to anawer. Another senior burst into the room.

"Say, Bob!" He was beaming. "You heard about the new store across the street? The club, or whateve it is? There's a sign up, and an ad in the Thresher, and—"

"That's whut I been tryin'—" but Calculus couldn't interrupt.

"—and they say it's a red-headed cutie offering to teach a new course. Fancy that!"

"Hunh!" Bob just grunted.

"Yeah, let's go see it. Come on."

The two collegians left Calculus shining shoes, and descended to the domitory green. Half a dozen cronies joined them. The talk was loud, rabid, gay. They had heard of the new Love Cottage, too. They all walked toward the campus third gate, thence north half a block or so, and joined 25 or 30 boys and girls who were already standing there, staring. The sign on the cottage lawn read:

SARA SUE DAVIS, Inc.
—COUNSEL IN ROMANCE—
Come In.

Some of the group held copies of The Thresher, student newspaper, just off the press. Heads were huddled over the papers.

The editor really had missed his cue, for he had given front-page as usual to football and registration, whereas a three-inch publicity "brief" inside, explaining Sara Sue Davis, Inc., commanded practically all the readers' attention and comment.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1938.

Drive carefully tomorrow—proper caution would have prevented many serious accidents.

Necessities seem much in demand—at least, a number of automobile dealers report waiting lists for delivery of new cars.

This one comes from the newspaper Pravda at Moscow: "Persecutions are generally the last resort of toppling governments."

Had Opportunity to Grow.

THE OHIO BRASS COMPANY, an important Mansfield industry, is now fifty years old.

Entirely aside from consideration of the part that this concern has played in the upbuilding of Mansfield, the history of the Ohio Brass company might well be made the subject of study in connection with the whole story of industrial development in the United States during the past half century.

As has frequently been the case, the Ohio Brass company started as an idea in the minds of a few Mansfield men. The idea was worked into a reality when a little money was gathered together to equip a small factory. Jobs were provided for about twenty employes.

If there had been no growing field for products of the company, or if there had been no additional money for expansion and equipment, it would have been impossible for the Ohio Brass company to have progressed far beyond its original plant size and number of employes.

Capital, labor and management united in making it possible for the Ohio Brass company to grow from a small industry into a large one—just as this same combination is responsible for practically all of the industrial development in the United States in the past fifty years.

Capital and labor are very generally recognized as essential elements in industry and all forms of business, but it is sometimes overlooked that management is also a necessary factor in vitalizing both of the others.

It is initiative and efficient management, for instance, that sees the way to national or world-wide distribution of the products of industry, as was accomplished by the Ohio Brass company.

Production without distribution would be futile and profitless. Without reasonable profit there would be no incentive to investment of capital. Without investment of capital there would be no building and equipping of factories. Without factories and equipment there would be no opportunities for industrial employment.

Policies of government which retard investment of capital in legitimate business enterprises, or which discourage initiative by imposing intolerable taxes, react first to the detriment of those who would otherwise be wage-earners and then work hardships on the country as a whole.

Under present conditions, brought on by New Deal policies, it has been made practically impossible to start a small industry, with reasonable assurance that it can become a larger one, or to expand established industries with any feeling of confidence that required capital investments are reasonably safe.

It is fortunate that such governmental throttling was not in vogue when the Ohio Brass company came into existence fifty years ago, or in later times when other present-day industries were making their start.

Lone Eagle In Germany.

MANY of Charles A. Lindbergh's American and British friends will be puzzled by his prolonged stay in Germany. He has spent recent months in Berlin, in aviation and governmental circles, receiving a gold medal from Field Marshal Goering. Now he is reported as seeking a residence there for the winter.

The explanation is that he "has found the reich such a center for scientific aviation research" that he wants to remain for further observations.

Such professional interest is doubtless genuine. Lindbergh's first love, and probably his most lasting one, is flying and the means of flight, although he has done important scientific work along other lines in collaboration with Dr. Alexis Carrel.

But with things as they are in Germany at present, with the Hitler regime growing steadily more reckless and ruthless, with an international controversy already aroused by Lindbergh's reported statements about the relative merits of German, Russian and British air power, with his English friends offended by his fraternizing with the Nazis, the famous flyer doesn't seem to be using as good judgment as usual.

No Dull Days Necessary.

IN MANY ways we don't do justice to this age, complains Dr. William Lyon Phelps, famous English professor at Yale. Too many people complain about it, fail to take advantage of its opportunities, and "die twenty years before they are buried."

He maintains that it is possible now to live many lives at once, in comparison with former ages. The way to do it is to keep the mind active and cultivate more interests—find more things interesting. He himself, he says, hasn't had a dull day in fifteen years.

To a person really awake and alert, actively interested in the life around him and the countless new and interesting things going on in the world, every day should bring new adventures. Reading a daily newspaper, through which all this life is made visible and brought to everyone's door, is in itself an adventure to the alert reader.

Thoughtful Service.

MAYOR LA GUARDIA of New York has a flair for original behavior that often reminds people of Theodore Roosevelt when that kindred spirit was police commissioner of New York. There is certainly a chuckle in something the mayor did the other day.

Growing tension in the metropolis over the Nazi persecutions in Germany, and the reaction to them in democratic countries, made it desirable that a trustworthy police squad should be assigned to guard the German consulate and serve as Nazi escorts about the city. So what did the mayor do?

He assigned to that job a Hebrew guard of honor headed by three officers named Finkelstein, Licker and Goldstein.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — So decisive was the swing toward the Republicans in the election that close observers suspect it may have an important influence on a certain member of the supreme court.

For a long time it has been known to those intimate with the court that Justice McReynolds, one of the "conservatives" on the bench, has wanted to retire. That was true even before the court fight.

Keep the Court Conservative.

BUT all during the early and middle years of the New Deal he held on because his vote kept the court "conservative." Had he resigned, an appointee of New Deal leanings would have swung the balance in the other direction. By staying on he became one of the five-man bloc which threw out one New Deal measure after another.

When Justice Roberts swung from the conservative group to the liberal group led by Chief Justice Hughes as a sort of liberal mediator, McReynolds was known to be bitter, not only against Roberts and Hughes but over the fact that the court was committed to a philosophy of which he disapproved.

Two of his fellow conservatives, Sutherland and Vandevanter, gave up the battle and retired. Their places were taken by known liberals, Justices Black and Reed.

Justices McReynolds and Butler, remnants of the once dominant conservative wing of the court, stay on; Butler evidently because he loves his job and McReynolds because he hates to leave the fight.

Holding the Fort Till '40.

NOW the Republican political gains add a new factor. By staying through 1940, McReynolds might find a Republican president in office to appoint his successor. So court observers are discounting the persistent talk that McReynolds will walk out soon.

Should he leave now, appointment of a liberal successor might commit the court to that philosophy for a number of years. If McReynolds stays on until a Republican is president, he might materially reduce the length of time that the present liberal tendency will prevail.

In Good Health at 76.

ALTHOUGH 76, McReynolds is physically hearty, so questions of health need not dictate his decision about retiring for perhaps several years.

As to the remainder of the court, there is nothing to indicate that the election had more than academic interest to them. Justice Brandeis, just turned 82, is the eldest member, but gives no hint of a desire to retire. In fact, the reverse seems true—that he wishes to continue as long as he is able to handle his work, possibly with an eye to equalling the record of the late Justice Holmes, who remained until he passed 90.

The supreme court may follow the election returns but its present membership indicates it will lag considerably in any tendency there may be toward great conservatism. Justices Black, Reed, Stone and Brandeis are definitely liberal, and more often than not are joined by Hughes and Roberts. And the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Cardozo is yet to be filled.

GETTYSBURG ADDRESS NOW 75 YEARS OLD

The Gettysburg Address in Lincoln's Own Handwriting

SEVENTY-FIVE years ago—on November 19, 1863—Abraham Lincoln stepped forward on the speakers' platform at Gettysburg and delivered the Gettysburg Address. This three-minute talk is widely recognized as the masterpiece of modern English eloquence.

At least five different versions of the Gettysburg Address were written or spoken by Lincoln, according to Dr. L. A. Warren, director of the Lincoln National Life Insurance Company's Lincoln Museum in Fort Wayne, Indiana. No less than three such versions were written after the dedication ceremonies when Edward Everett, George Bancroft, and probably a few others, requested copies. The writing Lincoln prepared for Everett and the two copies he wrote for Bancroft have been preserved. It is the final Bancroft copy, reproduced here in Lincoln's own handwriting, which has become known as the authentic Gettysburg Address.

Democrats In New Deal Battle

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — Every sign now points to the probability that the real battle against the New Deal for the next two years will be inside the Democratic party, rather than made from outside by the Republican party. The United States has had many queer political upsets, for example the tremendous swing between the Republican landslide of 1928 and the Democratic sweep of 1932. But a pattern runs through most of the political swings from one extreme to the other.

This pattern usually manifests itself by the party that is about to recapture control of the White House winning control of the House of Representatives two years before its presidential victory. In fact there has been no variation of this rule since 1888, and a rule which has had no exceptions for half a century in the United States may be accepted as something of a precedent.

It will be recalled, of course, that the downfall of the Republicans was foreshadowed by the election of a Democratic House of Representatives in 1930, the downfall of the Wilson era of Democracy was clearly forecast when the Republicans captured both the House and the Senate in 1918. Most folks remember those two illustrations of the rule. But it has nearly always been that way.

Incidentally the turning of the dry tide was also so foreshadowed. Its high water mark was reached in the 1928 election, though this is open to reservation. Actually the force that swept drys into office in greater number than ever before, that elected a Republican dry senator from wet, Democratic Maryland, and a Republican dry representative from the Norfolk district in Virginia, was far more religious prejudice than dry enthusiasm.

BUT be that as it may the drys achieved their peak as a result of the 1928 election. Early in 1930, before any one save a few wet enthusiasts sensed the turn of the tide, there was a careful inquiry into all the individual wet and dry fights of 1928, at the end of which the late Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, proved to the satisfaction of most congressmen that the money spent for the wets had been wasted!

But in those 1930 primaries, and in the election that followed, the sweep began. It was helped by the fact that there was a revulsion against the Hoover Administration for other reasons, and that there were considerably more Democratic wets than Republican running for office. But even in the primaries the tide was obvious, and much clearer than in elections complicated by economic and other issues. The flabbergasting victory of Robert J. Bulkley in the Democratic senatorial primary in Ohio, the home state of the Anti-Saloon League; was followed by the totally unexpected defeat by Grant M. Hudson and Louis C. Cramton in Michigan, two outstanding dry leaders who had not dreamed their seats were in danger. Bone-dry Iowa elected a wet Democrat to the House.

In the months that followed Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills and Postmaster General Walter F. Brown led a cabinet contingent which fought to have the G.O.P. go wet in the next election. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, once the dry idol as assistant attorney general, begged Hoover privately to come out for beer!

THE G. O. P. convention went "moist" in 1932, but the Democratic convention went further than the Roosevelt leaders desired, at the time. They went all the way.

If precedents mean anything, it will take quite an amazing acceleration in Republican strength to give the G.O.P. a fighting chance in 1940.

"A Portrait of An Agitator."

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THE November issue of Scribners magazine has a strange cover. I'd like to put that cover into every home in this country with a tag reading "PERSONAL WARNING TO ALL SMUG STUPES WHO THINK THAT AMERICA IS SAFE."

Why all the excitement? Here's why. The cover I refer to carries a face. That face is labelled—"PORTRAIT OF AN AGITATOR." Most of us think we know how an agitator looks. We are quite sure we could recognize an agitator if we saw one. He would be a large tough hombre with bad eyes, bull dog jaw and maybe a big, black beard. A typical plug-ugly.

"That," say we to ourselves, "is how an agitator looks. And, since anyone can spot a Bad Egg like that a mile off, it won't be hard to deal with such birds—if we ever really hafta. But—we probably won't hafta. Of course one hears all these horror tales of foreign spies and paid propagandists. How they go snooping through factories and sneaking around harvest fields, trying to Start Something. But that's a joke! Guys like that can't get anywhere in America.

"They can't pull the wool over any smart American's eyes. No, siree! They're too obvious . . . we're on to them! They can't throw any scare into us! We don't even bother to run 'em out. Just give 'em enough rope n' they'll hang themselves. But watch us jump into action if they really try to start something. Sa-a-ay, we'd wipe 'em up so fast they wouldn't know what hit 'em."

SEZ YOU TO YOURSELF!

But you'd better have another guess, stranger. Better take a look at that magazine cover I've been telling you about. For there's a real agitator. No, this agitator isn't a big, tough hombre that you "could tell a mile off." 'Tisn't a "he" at all. To the contrary, it's a scrawny, stringy haired little girl, with a twisted mouth and shifty eyes and a rickety, malnourished body.

A queer face. No pride. No laughter. No determination. Smudgey nose, slidey chin, sludgey flesh—A snivelly, hopeless face that looks as if no one had ever bothered to finish it.

No expression in that face as it stares at you from the cover. Yet it startles you. Makes you feel vaguely uneasy. For, even if you're no psychologist, you know there could be an expression in that face . . . just one expression . . . and you know what that one expression would be. It would be—HATE.

A smeared cup of flesh to hold —HATE. That's what that face is . . . and that's all it is or can be . . . this weak, wry thing that society has never bothered to finish. This body denied sufficient nourishing food and cleansing air —this spirit that has never known fun nor freedom nor winged hope —these eyes that have never glazed with gay young dreams nor gallant young rebellions—

THIS IS THE PORTRAIT OF AN AGITATOR.

THIS IS THE PORTRAIT OF TRAGEDY AND TROUBLE TO THE STUPID LAND WHICH HAS RECEIVED IT OR NEGLECTED IT . . . THE STUPID LAND WHICH THINKS IT HAS NOTHING TO FEAR!

This is the portrait of an agitator. And you have seen it agitating — but you did not realize what you saw. You have seen it whispering to other little girls in school yards — sneering at those who have better clothes—asking "Why can't we have as nice dresses as that stuck-up Jones girl?" You have heard it whining in slatternly apartment house kitchens . . . shrilling across stagnant, airless courts . . . squabbling in stinking markets — dirty yellow fingers fumbling through rancid, rotting food. And you have thought nothing of that monotonous whine . . . that perpetually twisted mouth . . . those empty eyes—

But some day you will think—
For someday that whine will rise . . . and some day those eyes will fill—WITH HATE.

GOD GRANT WE SEE, IN TIME TO SAVE OURSELVES—AND THEM!

Looking Back Through the Years

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, Nov. 19, 1918.

Unseasonably warm weather had brought on a second crop of fruits and berries and in several instances, of vegetables.

Mrs. Christine Laver, 93, died at her home, Park avenue east.

Members of the Emanon club and their husbands were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lutz, 27 Rowland avenue.

Miss Elizabeth Burns of Ireland, arrived in Mansfield to visit Mrs. James J. Sweeney, North Franklin street.

William Goodney, 17, was killed by a B. and O. train at the North Mulberry crossing.

Harry S. Black, Miss Helen Jameson, E. B. Cappeller and Dr. W. E. Loughridge were among the ten persons elected to the Red Cross board.

Twenty Years Ago Tomorrow

Wednesday, Nov. 20, 1918.

Mansfield Trades Council contributed $80, the first to be made, to the General hospital fund campaign.

Mrs. Almeda Fisher, 91 East Fourth street, was surprised on her birthday by members of the J. U. L. club.

Mrs. Harry B. Grocost was delegate from the Pocahontas lodge to the district convention in Cleveland.

Ohio Public Service company announced an increase in electric rates.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, Nov. 19, 1933.

Jesse Beer was speaker at meeting of B. Y. P. U. of Park Avenue Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Berg motored to Ada to visit friends.

Son was born in General hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Grant Wagner.

Edith Fletcher, soprano, and Theodore Schaefer, organist, gave vesper recital at First Congregational church.

Capt. and Mrs. Frank Barr, Sherman avenue, left for Florida to spend the winter.

Five Years Ago Tomorrow

Monday, Nov. 20, 1933.

Russell Weisman, Cleveland economist, spoke to Mansfield City Foremen's club on "Inflation."

Mrs. E. K. Walter, Blymyer avenue, was improving in General hospital following an operation.

J. M. Reed, Marion avenue, obtained permit to build garage.

Columbus reports had it that Sam Willaman would be replaced as Ohio State football coach and the job would go to Gus Dorais of the University of Detroit.

CWA (Civil Works Administration) program got underway in Ohio and 50,000 unemployed were given jobs.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On this day in 1863 Abraham Lincoln made his immortal Gettysburg address.

What's Happened?

Week-End Summary of Current Events.

CIO used to mean Committee for Industrial Organization. Now it means Congress of Industrial Organizations. That change in monniker, adopted this week, signified CIO's coming-of-age as an association of 42 labor unions, committees and councils in favor of organizing workers according to the industry they are employed in.

Faith in that idea, as opposed to the American Federation of Labor's tradition of organizing workers according to the kind of task they perform, was what got CIO's founding fathers kicked out of AFL. The cleavage between the adherents of those two ideas is the basis of U. S. labor's three-year-old civil war.

Schism's Story.

Here's the history of that war so far:

Oct. 16, 1935—AFL, at its annual convention, turned down John L. Lewis's proposal that all workers in each mass-production industry be organized into one big union.

Nov. 9. 1935—Lewis, and some other labor leaders who liked his idea, formed the Committee for Industrial Organization to carry it out.

Sept. 5, 1936—AFL, after an unsuccessful attempt to force CIO to disband, suspended the AFL unions that had joined the CIO.

Oct. 11, 1937—AFL's convention in Denver gave its executive council authority to expel the "rebel" unions, and the council did so shortly afterward.

Nov. 14, 1938—CIO met in a constitutional convention at Pittsburgh, where it adopted its new name and formed a "permanent" organization.

Both groups have grown since the split. AFL claims 3,623,087 members. Chairman Lewis told the 500 delegates at Pittsburgh that CIO has 4,037,877. His figure included 250,000 members of the International Ladies Garment Workers, which decided on the eve of the convention not to join the other members of the Committee for Industrial Organization in forming the Congress of Industrial Organizations. ILGU was the one CIO union never expelled from AFL.

President's Proposal.

Peace efforts, afoot almost since the war started, were renewed this week. President Roosevelt sent CIO Chairman Lewis the same appeal for reunion that he sent in vain to AFL President Green last month:

"The wage earners of the United States have made great progress in recent years. . . . If the great gains already made are to be consolidated . . . it is essential that there be co-operation among the wage earning groups. . . . Dissension can only lead to loss of influence and prestige to all labor."

The convention replied with a resolution:

"The CIO states with finality there can be no compromise with its fundamental purpose and aim of organizing workers into powerful industrial unions. . . . Any program for the attainment of such a goal (peace) must embrace those fundamental purposes."

* * * *

Progressives' Plight.

Before opening his CIO convention John L. Lewis spoke of the need for "concerted action among the liberal forces" in the wake of last week's elections—in which the Republicans gained 81 seats in the house of representatives and eight in the senate.

New York's Mayor LaGuardia agreed and went into a huddle with Michigan's Gov. Murphy and Ohio's Sen. Bulkley both defeated last week by Republicans. Asked if he was thinking about a third party for 1940 LaGuardia replied: "That's the very subject under discussion and preparation."

But Murphy talked later with President Roosevelt and announced: "Progressivism can and must go forward, but I believe it must be carried forward through the Democratic party. There is little chance for a third party."

At Home

Trade Treaties.

Cordell Hull's favorite sport is croquet. His favorite job, as U. S. secretary of state, is signing reciprocal trade agreements between American and the countries she buys from and sells to. This week he signed two: A new one with Breat Britain, America's best foreign customer; and a revision of an old one with Canada, America's biggest single foreign source of supplies. With 17 others already in force, more than half of America's trade now comes under Hull' tariff-reduction system.

New Nickel.

For a nickel you can buy a cup of coffee, play a slot machine, make a phone call, ride a subway. The U. S. treasury began making nickels in 1866, after trying two-and three-cent pieces, and the mint estimates 1,600,000,000 of them ($80,000,000 worth) are in circulation now. Most carry the buffalo-Indian design adopted in 1913. And a few are shiny new ones with a profile of Thomas Jefferson on one side and a picture of his home on the other. The first 11,000,000 of those were issued through the nation's banks this week.

Cummings Going.

In six years there have been only two changes in President Roosevelt's cabinet: William H. Woodin resigned as treasury secretary in 1933 because of ill health (he died shortly afterward), and was replaced by Henry Morgenthau, jr.; George H. Dern, war secretary, died in 1936, and was replaced by Harry W. Woodring. There will be a third change, the president announced this week, in January: Attorney General Homer S. Cummings will resign to resume private law practice.

Cancer Treatment.

X-rays kill cancer cells by hitting them so hard that their atomic structure is broken up. Speedy neutron rays (generated by bombing beryllium with electrically propelled hydrogen particles) can do much the same thing, doctors heard this week, and sometimes are more effective than X-rays. Medical men hailed the announcement, by the National Cancer Advisory council, as the most important advance in cancer treatment since the similar use of X-rays was discovered 25 years ago.

Abroad

Pogrom's Progress.

To avenge Jews for their suffering under Hitler, a Jewish boy shot a minor German official in Paris last week. His act brought the Jews not vengeance, but more suffering; for the Nazis turned it into an excuse for the bitterest wave of Jewish persecution that has washed over Germany since Hitler came to power.

Jewish shops throughout Greater Germany were wrecked in anti-Semitic outbreaks over the weekend. Thousands of Jews, particularly those who still had some money, were arrested.

America's reaction to the new Nazi pogrom was voiced by public personages in a flood of statements and speeches: "Mad . . . inhuman . . . bestial . . . barbaric!"

Papal Protest.

The Italian government agreed in 1929 that its civil authorities would recognize any marriage sanctioned by the Catholic church. But a new Fascist decree, aimed primarily at Jews, prohibits the "marriage of an Italian citizen of the Aryan race with a person belonging to another race." It was promulgated, the Vatican newspaper disclosed this week, after Pope Pius had sent handwritten protests to both Mussolini and King Vittorio Emanuele.

Good Earth Scorched.

The clever Chinese try to destroy as much as they can of every city before abandoning it to the Japanese invaders. That is called the "scorched earth" policy. It was applied this week to Changsha, southwest of captured Hankow. News that the Japanese were coming sent most of Changsha's 500,000 residents fleeing, and Chinese-set fires burned un-doused.

Hankow was still on fire, too, because the Chinese had destroyed the city water works before they gave it up three weeks ago.

People

Blessed American.

Mother Francesca Saverio Cabrini, an Italian nun, came to America in 1889, established Catholic churches and schools for Italian immigrants and, in 1909, became a U. S. citizen.

After her death, in 1917, pious people told of miraculous cures wrought through Mother Cabrini's intervention. Two were accepted by the church as authentic miracles. Last Sunday, in a ceremony in St. Peters in Vatican City, Mother Cabrini became the first American ever formally declared blessed by the Roman Catholic church. That entitles her memory to special veneration in the localities where she did her good works.

Enoch Arden.

Davis R. MacDonald, a Pittsburgh broker, disappeared 14 years ago. On a river bank were found his hat, coat and a "suicide" note to his wife. She divorced him, then had him declared legally dead, collected his life insurance and remarried. Now he's turned up in Los Angeles—with a new name, a new wife and two children. Fingerprints identified him when he was arrested and charged with writing a bum check. Said MacDonald: "The past is dead."

Typhoid Mary.

New York health officials can detain indefinitely, or until cured, any person suffering from an infectious disease. Their most famous "medical prisoner" was Mary Mallon, 70, an Irish cook. Mary was a typhoid fever carrier. She never contracted the disease, but her body teemed with its germs. Doctors identified her as the unwitting cause of a series of epidemics beginning in 1900. For the last 25 years she had been isolated in a hospital on an island in the East river. There, last week-end, "Typhoid Mary" died—of paralysis and old age.

In Short

Back: Beniamino Gigli, Italian tenor, after six years in self-exile from New York's Metropolitan Opera company.

Pleaded Guilty: Robert Irwin, New York's "mad sculptor," of second degree murder, in the slaying of Artists' Model Vernica Gedeon, her mother and their boarder on Easter morn, 1937.

Died: J. J. (Bathouse John) Coughlin, "poet laureate" of Chicago's city council; Clarence H. Mackay, chairman of Postal Telegraph; Wang I-ting, a founder of the Chinese republic.

Indicted: Thirty-four organizations and 74 persons, including Chicago's health board president and three other city officials, on charges of anti-trust law violations in the milk and ice cream businesses.

WEDDING AT SHELBY OF INTEREST HERE

Miss Ruthe Schrantz Becomes Bride of Walter Brocwell In Late Morning Service; Mansfield Pastor Officiates.

A WEDDING which has caused considerable interest in both Mansfield and Shelby social circles is that of Miss Ruthe Marie Schrantz and Walter Stanley Brocwell. The service was performed this morning at the Grace Episcopal church at Shelby at 11:45 o'clock by Rev. M. G. Nicola, pastor of the Grace Episcopal church here.

Miss Schrantz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dayton A. Schrantz, 14½ North Diamond street, makes her home in Shelby where she was employed at the Shelby Salesbook company. Mr. Brocwell is the son of Mrs. Charles McGregor of Shelby.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown made with a high waist and a long train. The dress was cut with a sweetheart neck, and long pointed sleeves. A white seed pearl head-dress held the hip length veil in place. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses. With this she wore a gold and diamond cross.

Three Attendants.

Attending Miss Schrantz was her sister, Miss Maxine Schrantz, as maid of honor, Miss Beatrice Erwin, New Washington, and Miss Helen Rubright, North Canton, as bridesmaids. The maid of honor wore a gooseberry taffeta dress, cut with a V-neck, with full-puffed sleeves, a full skirt and a matching hat. The two bridesmaids wore Spanish raisin taffeta made similarly to the maid of honor's, but made with square necks. They also wore matching hats.

The three attendants carried arm bouquets of yellow pompons. William Hunter, Shelby, was best man and two other Shelby men, Charles Shankey, jr., and Charles Armstrong, jr., were the ushers.

The nuptial music was played by Miss Dorothy Williams, organist, and a vocal duet was given by Jacque Kaler and Ella Margaret Smith.

Church Decorations.

Yellow Chrysanthemums and burnt orange pompons with a series of lighted candelabra were used to decorate the church altar and the entire auditorium. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's parents' home in Mansfield.

Mrs. Schrantz appeared at the ceremony in a rust street length dress and brown accessories with a corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother wore teal blue with black and a corsage of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Brocwell left this afternoon for a short wedding trip. They will make their home at 109½ East Main street, Shelby, upon their return.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Shelby high school, and Mr. Brocwell also is employed at the Salesbook company.

Miss Margaret Jane Hall, student at Wooster college, will spend the week-end at her home, 125 Rowland avenue, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hall.

To Give Review Here Next Week

The second in a series of book reviews being sponsored by the Women's association of the First Congregational church will be given Tuesday at the church. Mrs. W. E. Benninghoff, Cleveland reviewer and affiliate of the Harvey Book shop, will be the speaker.

For this program Mrs. Benninghoff is scheduled to review "My Son, My Son!" by Howard Spring. Preceding the review, which starts at 2 p. m., Miss Louise Krause, church organist and Mansfield pianist, will given an organ recital.

Persons not holding tickets for the series may obtain single admissions at the door Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. John W. Graham, ticket chairman, announced today.

University Club Will Dance Next Saturday

Next Saturday night at the Mansfield-Leland hotel ballroom members and guests of the University club will dance to the rhythms of Joe Cisco's Musical Magpies. The formal affair is from 10 p. m. to 2 a. m.

The orchestra, famous colored band which played for the Westbrook Country club dancers this past summer, will offer swing music and entertainment. Social committee members are Lloyd Brown, chairman, Paul Endriss, John L. Thorne, Merritt Giles, Thornton Moore, Harold Burns, Howard Wenning and Tom Ford.

PLAN CARD PARTY.

Mrs. Agnes Cansler, Lily street, entertained members of the Octaeonio club at her home Thursday when plans were made to hold a card party. Games were played, and the Misses Martha Bradley and Thelma Perry were presented with prizes. The next meeting will be a Christmas party Dec. 1 at the home of Mrs. Catherine Clement, 510 North Mulberry street.

HOSTESS TO CLUB.

Mrs. Edith Meister, 61 South Adams street, entertained members of the Hewel Eight club Thursday evening at her home at two tables of five hundred. Score prizes were won by Mrs. Cynthia Heifner and Mrs. Etta Johnson. Luncheon was served at the close of play, and it was announced that Mrs. Heifner, North Benton street, will entertain Dec. 1.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I did not dare to look again at Hank while the torture scene in the cinema revival, into which we had inadvertently stumbled, swept through its tremendously dramatic yet gruesome course. But when the young army officers, their ordeal of lighted matches beneath their finger nails finally over, were tumbled headlong down the stairs into a dungeon, my husband's young nephew slumped sidewise against me, and for a panic-stricken instant I feared he had fainted.

I knew what was the matter, of course. Fresh from his interview with the psychiatrist who had revealed to him the inevitable consequences if he kept on indulging his propensity for mental and physical cruelty to animals and younger children, the depiction of the lengths to which cruelty could be carried was apparently overpowering in horror and terror.

I had another goad for instant action in the knowledge that the detective who, I was sure, was trailing Mary, was seated in the row of seats behind us. I did not quite see how the sight of Hank's reactions to the torture scene would be particularly informative to the man, but I did not propose that he should observe them. I heard Hank give a sobbing, explosive breath, releaving my fear that he had swooned. I turned to him, stiffening my shoulder against his, and catching his hand in mine, pressed it firmly.

"Steady!" I murmured. Then, as I felt his body stiffen at the warning, I amplified it.

"Brace yourself, boy! Don't let anybody see you're upset. And—remember, I'm right here."

He was silent for two or three seconds, while his fingers twitched against mine and then gripped them convulsively. Then, with a shuddering breath, and drawing his body erect, he whispered his familier slogan:

"Okay!"

For two or three interminably-crawling minutes, I sat immovable, for though he was no longer slumped against me, his shoulder was pressed against mine, as if for support. Then, as the drama, no longer macabre but still intensely thrilling, swept on, the pressure of his shoulder ceased, and, turning my head, I saw that, with the resilience of youth, he had put aside his horrified terror, and was leaning forward with the same keen interest and enjoyment in the drama that Mary and Hank were displaying.

When "The End" had been flashed, we rose with one accord and filed from our seats without speaking. Three people rose from the row of seats behind us, and I noted that one of them was the man whom we believed to be a detective. Patently remembering my warning. Mary and her brothers kept silence with me, and I stopped them in the lobby near the outer door.

"'Just a second, please," I said in tones slightly louder than my ordinary conversational voice, "I want to look for something in my purse."

As I spoke I let my eyes rest a casual fraction of a second upon the detective who had also halted in the lobby, and wondered if he would be crass enough to linger with us.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, Nov. 20.

SUNDAY'S horoscope shows the advent of very sudden and surprising experiences, probably with changes, journeys or upheavals of a rather drastic or devastating nature. This reorientation may be concerned with a sudden growth in ideas and ideals which may have decisive bearing on the future life and its destinies. There is a possibility that such visitation may react mainly on the intimate, romantic or emotional life.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of sudden and drastic change which will have, the effect of an entirely reorientated life. It may be that progress and growth are at the root of this about-face, but if it be enmity or jealousy instigating the departure, it may react in financial loss or general defeat.

A child born on this day may be talented, inventive, adventurous and audacious. Its love for the strange, the novel and the experimental may take it far in romantic experience or radical "foolhardiness."

For Monday, Nov. 21.

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a rather perplexing or complicated state of affairs, with a decided prospect of gain, advancement and prosperity. But these may be upset by an irregularity, an intrigue or a problem calling for acumen and discretion, especially where old matters or elderly persons are concerned.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by a rather complicated year, in which there is excellent promise of growth, advancement, expanded interests and growing fortunes. At the same time, there are hints of subtlety, intrigue or curious angles to promising affairs. These also apply to the intimate affiliations, where friendship and deeper sentiments affect happiness and prosperity.

A child born on this day may be enterprising, versatile, ambitious and shrewd, and should reach a place of influence and high station.

Winter, Spring Meet on Hat

There's a touch of spring on this winter hat which Sally Victor makes of fur and flowers. A cluster of pink arbutus nestles in the band of silver fox that swirls about the shallow crown of a chartreuse beaver felt sailor. It's destined to go places after five o'clock.

CIRCLE SESSION.

Mrs. J. Leo Hartman, Stewart avenue, was hostess for the covered-dish dinner meeting Thursday of Circle Three of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Mrs. R. L. Fox led the devotions and Mrs. D. Margaritis, West Third street, was announced as the Dec. 15 hostess.

BREAKFAST PARTY.

Miss Mary Foos, manager of the Moderne Beauty shop, entertained eight employes at breakfast this morning at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Chrysanthemums were used as a table decoration. Plans were made for a Christmas party at this time.

* * *

Miss Margaret Twitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Twitchell, 150 West First street, is spending the week-end in Mansfield. She is a student at the Cleveland School of Art.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

CONSIDER VULNERABILITY

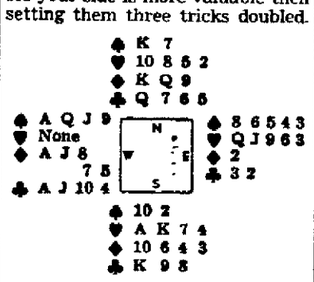
What is right when the opponents are vulnerable and you are not may be utterly wrong if the condition is reversed. When the opponents are vulnerable, it will pay to double and defeat them a couple of tricks rather than strive for a game yourself, unless of course your side has a slam in the hand. But if you are vulnerable and they are not, getting a game for your side is more valuable then setting them three tricks doubled.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

When South opened the bidding on this deal with 1-Heart, West doubled and North jumped to 3-Hearts. East doubled this and his side defeated the declarer three tricks doubled.

West was not at all pleased with the result and told East in no uncertain terms what he thought about the double. He pointed out that East's correct move was to have bid 3-Spades, for the double indicated some length in that suit. East's argument was that with the strength shown by North's jump, he was afraid to put in the spade bid, as it might indicate to West that the hand contained some honor strength.

North's jump to 3-Hearts did not imply the strength that East credited him with but was made with the hope of keeping East out of the bidding. His bid prevented the opponents from making a vulnerable game.

Monday's Problem.

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

What is the correct defense by East against South's 3-No Trump contract after West leads the spade 4?

ART STUDY CLUB HAS ANNUAL GUEST PARTY

Miss Dora Zimmerman Speaks Before Members and Guests at Central M. E. Church, Musical Numbers Offered.

THE message of welcome was given yesterday afternoon in the assembly rooms of the Central Methodist Episcopal church by Mrs. Warren Fort, president of the Art Study club, when the organization entertained at its annual guest day meeting.

Guests of the club were Miss Dora Zimmerman, Mrs. L. A. Schrack, Mrs. Harvey Imhoff, Mrs. Roy Beck, Mrs Hugh Brown, Mrs. C. W. Curtiss, Mrs. R. Evans, Mrs. Floyd Davis, Mrs. C. M. Falk, Mrs. K. R. Smith, Mrs. W. R. King, Mrs. C. D. Sherrard, Mrs. Claude Ewing and Mrs. H. H. Clingan.

Miss Zimmerman, guest speaker, talked on "Holidays In U. S. A. and China." Miss Zimmerman, who is the guest of Mrs. Harry Buchan, makes her home in Perrysville. She is a graduate of Oberlin college, and after teaching in the Shelby high school for some years, she went to China where she taught in a girls' school for 27 years. She is a world traveler, and speaks entertainingly of the customs and traditions of the Chinese people as contrasted with those of our country. She told specifically of the New Year's day celebrations, the parades and the feasts.

Mrs. Carl Spangler introduced the program, and presented Mrs. Clingan in the piano solo, "Valse" by Levitzki. Mrs. Ewing, accompanied by Mrs. Clingan, then sang two numbers, "Less Than the Dust" by Fruden and a Chinese song.

After the registration of guests, each one was given a flower favor. Tea was served at a table decorated with a centerpiece of bronze chrysanthemums. Mrs. King and Mrs. Theodore Frank presided.

The next meeting will be Dec. 2 with Mrs. Leonard Nigh, Mrs. M. V. Scouten and Mrs. Carl Damron as hostesses. The place has not yet been decided.

ORGANIZE CLUB.

Mrs. Kenneth Bell, 811 Springmill street, was hostess for the organization meeting of the Larkin Gatime club Thursday evening. After a short business meeting, games were played, and prizes were won by Mrs. Melvin Bauer and Mrs. Harold Ernsberger. Luncheon was served at a table decorated with Thanksgiving appointments. The next meeting will be Dec. 8 with Mrs. Ernsberger, 478 Wood street. This will be a Christmas party.

Guest Speaker Reviews Book at Friday Session

Members of the Cosmopolitan club were entertained yesterday at the home of Mrs. Paul Eliot, 40 Bartley avenue, when Mrs. Wilmot Pierce, member of the Conversational club, gave a book review.

She reviewed "The Country Doctor" by Arthur Hertzler. This is an account of the author's own experiences and the period of his life. The next meeting will be Dec. 2 at the Women's Club with Miss Florence Hall as hostess.

Madison Wins Mid-State League Title In Rain, 19 to 0

Harmon Gains Scoring Lead

Fleet-Footed Halfback Scores Three Touchdowns To Run Total to 146 Points.

By CHARLES MARTIN

THE Madison high Rams annexed their third consecutive Mid-State league football championship last night at Madison field under the floodlights before 700 rain-soaked spectators.

Coach Al Fendrick's high-scoring machine, hampered by the mud and rain, clicked at important moments to dust off a surprising Mt. Gilead high combine, 19 to 0, to cop its fifth crown in six years and increase its lead in the state scoring race to 320 points, 30 more than Massillon, its nearest rival.

Tops Carl Grate.

Gene Harmon, one of the greatest running backs ever to romp at Madison, jumped into the lead in the Ohio individual scoring race by tallying all three touchdowns to push his season's total to 146 points, topping Carl Grate of Greenfield McClain by one point.

Madison was handicapped by numerous fumbles due to the slippery leather lemon, but displayed a powerful running attack to down their foes. It was Mt. Gilead's first defeat in Mid-State league competition. The Indians battled Loudonville to a tie in their only other league game. The defeat dropped the club into third place in the standings.

MID-STATE LEAGUE
(Final)

| | W. | L. | T. | Pts. | Op. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Madison | 3 | 0 | 0 | 65 | 12 |
| Bellville | 1 | 1 | 0 | 18 | 20 |
| Mt. Gilead | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 19 |
| Loudonville | 0 | 2 | 1 | 38 | 13 |

Madison tallied once in the opening period and added two more touchdowns in the third to down their dangerous opponents.

Harmon, who scored all the touchdowns on spectacular runs, highlighted his closing performance last night by returning a punt 60 yards in the third period for the Rams' second tally of the contest.

He sidestepped and zigzagged from one side of the field to the other and then sprinted down the sidelines after eluding six would-be tacklers.

Mt. Gilead, playing without John English, star punter, who was on the sidelines with a leg injury suffered in the Loudonville tilt last week, never moved inside the Madison 20, and outside of the time McPeek galloped 37 yards to the Rams' 24, was unable to stage any serious threats.

Both clubs' passing games were below par because of the steady rain, and only one pass was completed, that by Madison in the third stanza, Harmon tossing one to Bill Wilkins on the Indians' eight-yard line to set up the Rams' final marker.

Madison lost two scoring opportunities on fumbles inside the invaders' 20, once on the two and again on the 15. In all the Rams fumbled 10 times and Mt. Gilead was credited with four bobbles.

Fendrick's youngsters started off with a rush, taking the opening kickoff and marching to the Indians' two where the losers recovered a fumble to halt the drive.

But the Rams took the next punt on the Mt. Gilead 34 and on the fourth play Harmon raced 18 yards on a sweep for the score. Brilliant blocking by Capt. Joe Miller removed the only obstacle in the fleet-footed back's path. Miller added the point on a perfectly booted placement. It was the only one he converted in three tries, giving him a season record of 24 out of 31 attempts.

The driving rain and slippery turf slowed down both elevens in the second chapter with fumbles coming too often to permit either club to move into scoring position.

Harmon opened the fireworks shortly after the intermission with his nifty run, and the Rams didn't wait long to add the final score. They received a Mt. Gilead punt on their own 45 and Harmon returned it to the Indians' 24.

Miller's pile-driving plunges and the Harmon-to-Wilkins pass put the ball on the eight. On the second play Harmon went over on a sweep.

Mt. Gilead came back with a rush, but lacked the punch and time to push over a score. With the aid of three five-yard penalties the Indians drove from their own 33 to the Madison 28 as the gun ended the game.

Farewell Game.

It was the final game for Harmon, Miller, the Wilkins twins, Bill and Bob, Mel Harner and George Kanz, and all the lads turned in creditable performances.

Bob Lee was the principal ground gainer for the visitors, while Melvin McClelland played a stellar role on the Indians forward wall.

Madison piled up 235 yards to the visitors' 131, and held the edge in first downs, 12 to six. The Indians secured four of the first downs in the fading minutes of the game.

Fred Apostoli Wins on Kayo In 8th Round

Coast Fighter Annexes N. Y. Middleweight Crown.

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—(AP)—Fred Apostoli holds today at least half of the world's "muddleweight," or 160-pound boxing championship, the reward for his eight-round technical knockout of Young Corbett III, a fellow Californian, last night in Madison Square Garden.

Corbett, 33 years old, gave up the ghost in the eighth after Apostoli had knocked him down three times. Some 7,500 spectators, including Col. Fulgencio Batista, head man of Cuba, declared it a pretty dull evening.

Though he lost the first three rounds to his left-handed opponent, Apostoli gave the impression from the start that he could win. The amazement was that Corbett ever won a 10-round decision over him last February on the coast.

Corbett in his dressing room lifted tired eyes to say: "He just wore me down. He was too strong, and his body punches hurt me terribly."

The situation now is that Apostoli holds the world's middleweight championship, providing you ask the New York state athletic commission. If you should ask the National Boxing association, which controls the game in most of the rest of the country, the champion is Solly Krieger of Brooklyn, who was a critical witness of last night's exhibition.

Union Cagers Win Inaugural

Trim Hayesville Club, 48-26, on Home Court.

Union high's Richland county basketball league representatives opened their 1938-39 season in impressive fashion at Union last night by drubbing Hayesville high, 48 to 26.

The Union quintet had little trouble in locating the bucket and shot into the lead in the opening minutes and was never headed.

Led by Tolles and Swisher, who tallied 14 and 12 points, respectively, the Union club grabbed a 10 to 4 lead in the opening quarter, increased it to an 18 to 12 advantage at the half, and went into the final period sporting a 30 to 14 lead. Fox and Shenberger paced the losers with 11 apiece.

The Union reserves defeated the Hayesville seconds, 26 to 15, in the preliminary attraction.

GRID GAME CALLED OFF

The football game scheduled between the Forest Gardens and Mansfield Cameos scheduled Sunday has been postponed it was announced by the management of the Forest Gardens today.

East End All-Stars Play North End Lions.

The East End All-Stars will meet the North End Lions at the Taylor-Dise gridiron at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. The All-Stars defeated the Lions, 20 to 0, in a recent game.

Stages Benefit Sunday

Adams Bantamweight Club Meets Akron Eleven on Fairground Gridiron.

CLYDE ADAMS' bantamweight football team will attempt to chalk up its first victory of the season Sunday when they engage the South Akron Merchants at the Fairground.

The game is scheduled for 2:30 p. m., and it is being staged as a benefit for Michael Ondov, Wittenberg student, who suffered a broken back in an automobile accident near the city a year ago.

Coach Harry Dandakis' gridsters held the Akron club to a 6 to 6 tie several weeks ago, and are confident that they can take the measure of the visitors Sunday.

The two teams were re-matched after the first meeting when the management of the Merchants issued a challenge. The challenge was immediately accepted, and the game held over until Sunday.

The tie score is the only blemish on the Akron club's record. It had won four straight games up to the Mansfield game, and it has won two since.

Dandakis regards victory hopes as encouraging as the Mansfield midgets have shown considerable improvement since their last game. Their inexperience has been their chief handicap.

All of the proceeds of the game above expenses will be turned over to Ondov, Business Manager Alex Hamilton stated today.

Bantams Bow To Paints, 20-0.

THE Bantamweights encountered trouble last night when they absorbed a 20 to 0 licking from the powerful Harris Paints of Wooster under the bulbs at Orrville in a benefit game played in the mud and rain.

Wooster struck twice in the opening period and added its final tally in the closing minutes of the game in stopping the Adams' club.

A fumble gave the Paints their opening score early in the game. Chapman scooped up a Mansfield bobble and raced 25 yards for the score. Shortly afterwards he tossed a pass to Fry for the second marker.

The Mansfield club gave the winners a battle in the second and third frame, but Wooster again took the upper hand in the fourth. With a minute to play Zarle ploughed through from the Mansfield six for the last touchdown.

The only Mansfield threat came in the third stanza when a pass carried it to the Paints' 11, but a fumble cost the club a chance to score.

Mansfield Again Sought for League

FREMONT —(UP)— An eight-team Ohio State baseball league in 1939 was believed possible by league officials today.

Present members of the circuit are Fremont, Fostoria, Findlay and Tiffin. At a post-season meeting here last night, the possibility of recruiting new members from among Marion, Galion, Lima, Mansfield, Defiance, Norwalk and Bryan was discussed.

The Fremont, Fostoria and Findlay clubs voted unanimously to retain Paul Shank as league president. He is a brother of Waldo Shank, president of the Toledo Mud Hens. The Tiffin club was not represented at the meeting. Emmett Reilly of Columbus was elected a league vice president.

Misfits Confident Of Upsetting Coals

CONFIDENCE reigned in the football camp of Brownie's Misfits today as they awaited the gun that will send them into action against the Kallmerten and Baer Coals in the game that is to determine the city semi-pro title at League park at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

According to the Misfits' boosters, Brownie's team will take the Coalmen into camp by a comfortable margin. They point to the list of former gridiron luminaries who will oppose the K-B's Sunday.

The Kallmerten and Baer team followers are also enthusiastic over victory prospects, and contend that no team, regardless of the number of stars it includes, can play well enough as a team to win.

Members of the Misfit team are just as confident as their boosters, too. They believe their experience will tell the tale in their favor.

However, regardless of which team wins, an interesting ball game should result, and a record crowd appears assured for the tussle.

The Misfits will consist of former well-known Mansfield players. This will be their first game and only game of the season, but they have been working out for several weeks, and should be in pretty good shape for the Coals.

Among the players who will play with the Misfits are Harry Long, Ross, George Hummel, Paul Wolfe, John Hall, Ike Fetter, Gene Brandon, Ray Hunt and Tommy Moxley. Nobie Davis, formerly of Mansfield high, will also appear with the Misfits, it was announced today.

Against this lineup of stars Coach Gip Miller of the K-B's will pit Vern Heiser, Rabbit Siler, Bill Hall, Mike Miller, Gaylord Bucher, Ed Zediker and Tom Powers.

A bruising and exciting game should result when these two elevens collide. Pre-game charges and accusations by the managements of the two clubs have aided to stir up a rivalry that should reach a hot point at about 2:30 p. m.

Win Fifth Title In Six Years For Madison High

Lemunyon Spills 659 Pins In Moose Loop

Rolls Games of 213, 224 and 222 to Set Pace; Michaels Leads Brass League.

HAROLD LEMUNYON set the scoring pace in league bowling at the Meder alleys last night. Bowling with the No. 2 team in the Moose home league, Lemunyon pounded out games of 213, 224 and and 222 for a nifty 659 total. Don Renner contributed a 607 to the No. 2 team's 2647 total, which was good for three wins over No. 6.

Henry Michaels of the Brass Finishers led the Ohio Brass league with a 614 total.

Harding Rips Redmen, 19-7

Scores Twice in Last Period in Final Game.

BUCYRUS—A two-touchdown last-period rally enabled the Presidents of Marion Harding to topple a fighting Bucyrus eleven, 19 to 7, under the lights here last night.

The Redmen went into the last half sporting a 7-6 advantage, and the slim lead looked bigger every minute until Eisler took command of the situation.

Late in the fourth chapter he intercepted a Redman pass and raced 20 yards through the mud and rain to score the winning touchdown. A few minutes later he tallied the second on a plunge.

"Woods and Waters"

By YUNCKER BROS.

SPORTSMEN have almost developed a language of their own in designating groups of particular animals and birds. For instance, it would be high treason to refer to a bunch of partridges. One should always say a covey when referring to members of the partridge family.

Then there is a nide of pheasants, a wisp of snipe, a flight of doves, a muster of peacocks, a seign of herons, a brood of grouse and a plump of wild fowl.

Of course, there is always a stand of plovers, a gaggle of geese, a bevy of quail, a cast of hawks, a skulk of foxes, a pack of wolves, a sleuth of bears and a gang of elk in the well-informed sportsman's dictionary.

Don't forget those pheasant tail feathers, fellows. Remember, we're offering prizes for the longest. The entries in the contest has exceeded our expectations so far.

See where Carl Shafer of the Mansfield Tire company came back the other afternoon with a black mallard while hunting pheasants and bunnies.

Now that live duck decoys are prohibited by federal decision, the boys are trying something else. It works, too, they say. There is a wood decoy that, when a string is pulled, stands up in the water as the live ducks approach, and flaps its wings—just as natural! The movement makes the mallards circle, come down. About all it needs is a quack.

And don't forget the Yuncker Bros. Sports store for your hunting equipment. Yuncker Bros. offer the best bargains in the city. Come in and see for yourself.

There are few hunters coming home these days without the limit. What's the reason for this wealth of game? There may be many, but perhaps the most logical reason for the increase in game is because of the dry spring. How about it?

* * *

The Michigan conservation department doesn't think much about the sporting spirit of hunters, particularly in regard to the unwritten law against shooting birds . . . 47 hunters stopped to blaze away at a stuffed rooster pheasant in a farm yard recently.

Schultz Wins Two Bouts On Grappling Card

AFTER an intermission of more than five months, Mansfield wrestling enthusiasts were presented the first of the winter season's program at the Armory last night.

A fair sized crowd was on hand to witness Tim Nolan's initial show which featured Gordon Arquette, Yakima, Wash., Indian, and Frank Remille of Portland, Ore.

Arquette won the decision over Remille by taking the last two falls, the first in 8 minutes and the deciding one in 9 minutes. Both falls were won by using the crab hold. Remille won the first fall of the bout with the Indian death-lock after a battle lasting more than 15 minutes. Remille is a new face in Mansfield, but he definitely established himself as a crowd pleaser last night as he received wave after wave of the well-known "boo."

Arquette, long a favorite here, has lost none of his versatility since his last appearance. The bout was fast and furious with Remille playing the role of the "bad man."

Proving he could dish it out as well as take it, young Ray Schultz of Germany last night won the opening bout from Lon Chaney of Chicago on a disqualification, and then took two straight falls from Lem Stecklin of Smokemount, Tenn., in the semi-final.

Following the opening bout, the main attraction was presented, as "Indian Ike" Cazzell, Stecklin's scheduled opponent, failed to arrive in Mansfield. After a rest of about 30 minutes from his first battle, in which Lon Chaney hammered Schultz and Referee Clarence Miller alternately for 13 minutes before being disqualified, the young German took the be-whiskered Stecklin into camp for the first fall in 18 minutes by banging Lem against the ropes and covering him with a body smother.

The deciding fall came in 12 minutes when Stecklin, who was continually trying to push Schultz into the corner where Lem's pet coon was tied, finally succeeded in getting the German lad close enough to the pet that he gave a mighty leap backward, landing atop the surprised Stecklin and holding him long enough for Miller to tap the required three.—By Carl Graham.

THEATERS

"Men With Wings."

A THRILLING epic of the air begins when a lone newspaperman sees two brothers, Wilbur and Orville Wright, fly in a "kite" at Kitty Hawk, N. C., and who throws up his job when his paper refuses to print the story as being fantastic. The ex-reporter determines to devote his life to the development of aviation and at his death his children agree to carry on. This is only the beginning of a story which follows the career of a daring flier, whose love for flying came first and his wife and child came second. Fred MacMurray, Ray Milland and Walter Abel are the men in the story, while Louise Campbell plays the leading feminine role. The picture opens at midnight tonight at the Ohio.

"Just Around the Corner."

When there is a Shirley Temple picture due, it seems that it isn't necessary to say anything about it—just announce it. But this time in addition to the biggest little box office star, an old favorite is seen—Charles Farrell. And there are such comedians as Bert Lahr, Joan Davis and Claude Gillingwater, while Shirley's personal friend, dancing Bill Robinson, has a role in which he steps off some new dances with Shirley. A newcomer. Amanda Duff, makes a romantic team with Farrell. Opens at the Madison Sunday.

"Illegal Traffic."

A new angle on rackets—the transportation of fugitives from the law—is the theme of "Illegal Traffic," which opens tomorrow at the Majestic with Mary Carlisle, J. Carrol Naish and Robert Preston. The racket is said to have prospered since the repeal of prohibition. Criminals are taken away from the scene of their crimes by any method—ambulances, hearses and airplanes, but always for a generous sum. The stirring picture of pioneer days, "Wells Fargo," is also on the bill.

"Love Finds Andy Hardy."

The program picture which bowled over exhibitors this year when it turned out to be a hit of major proportions comes to the Ritz for the first three days of the week, starting Sunday, when "Love Finds Andy Hardy" is shown there. This is one of the Judge Hardy series and has Mickey Rooney undecided between his regular girl, Ann Rutherford, and Judy Garland and Lana Turner. "City Girl," with Ricardo Cortez, Phyllis Brooks and Robert Wilcox the the second feature.

"I Stand Accused."

Although this recently produced film, with Helen Mack, Thomas Beck, Robert Cummings and Lyle Talbot, heads the bill at the Park for Sunday, it is probable that the second feature, a re-issue, will be of paramount interest, for it still holds its place as one of the best romantic comedies ever made. It is "It Happened One Night," with Clark Gable as the reporter and Claudette Colbert as the spoiled society girl, and Walter Connolly as her father.

ORDERS EQUIPMENT SOLD

R. J. Brown, receiver for the Merry-Go-Round, North Main street night club, was authorized in common pleas court today to sell the equipment in the establishment at private auction. The furnishings are valued at $457. A court order for liquidation of the business was obtained by G. A. Panagiotopoulos, part-owner of the night club, who said the business was not paying a profit.

WHY, IT SEEMS ALMOST UNBELIEVABLE! MR. GUDGE—A MURDERER!
AT TIMES I'VE SUSPECTED HIM! I ALWAYS SAID HE'D BEAR WATCHING-
HIS CONSCIENCE AT LAST OVERCAME THE VILLAIN IN HIM-
HM-M--- PERHAPS IT WAS NOT ALL HIS CONSCIENCE-
A MURDERER LIVING IN OUR MIDST ALL THESE YEARS-
THINK OF IT!
AND NOW TO THINK THAT HE HAS ESCAPED-WHERE CAN HE BE?
SUCH A TIGER AMONG LAMBS SHOULD BE TRACKED DOWN AND MADE TO FEEL THE WRATH OF UPRIGHT PEOPLE-
POOR MRS. ALDEN- LIVING IN POVERTY ALL THESE YEARS-
SHE'S A RICH WOMAN NOW- WE MUST CALL AT ONCE-
AH-BUT RICHES CAN NOT HEAL A LONELY HEART-
HOW TRUE!

THE NEBBS—Innocent Mr. Converser?

By Sol Hess

THE NEWS HAS GOT OUT ABOUT THE "BLUE BIRD" DIAMOND ROBBERY AND THE HOTEL IS ALL AGOG!
WILL POOR STEVE EVER GET HIS DIAMOND BACK ?
11-19
WHAT'S ALL THE FUSS ABOUT?
SOMEBODY STOLE STEVE NEBBS BIG DIAMOND!
I WARNED YOU THIS WOULD HAPPEN-I OFFERED TO WATCH THE PLACE AND FOR A MERE NOTHIN'- IF YOU WASN'T SO ALL-FIRED CHEAP THIS WOULDN'T A-HAPPENED!
YOU'D HAVE DONE A LOT OF GOOD-THE GUY WHO GOT THAT DIAMOND COULD STEAL A PIECE OF MEAT OFF YOUR FORK ON IT'S WAY TO YOUR MOUTH AND YOU'D NEVER CATCH HIM!
HOW MUCH WAS THE DIAMOND WORTH AND WAS IT INSURED?
WELL, I WOULDN'T HAVE TAKEN LESS THAN A MILLION DOLLARS-I DID NOT HAVE INSURANCE-THE RATE WAS PROHIBI-TIVE
AND YOU KEPT IT UP IN YOUR ROOM IN A SAFE THAT A BUTTERFLY COULD KICK HIS WAY OUT OF!
I DON'T WANT TO BUTT INTO YOUR AFFAIRS BUT I REALIZE EVERYBODY IN THIS HOTEL IS UNDER SUSPICION SO I'D SUGGEST THAT EVERY ROOM BE SEARCHED-NO HONEST PERSON WOULD OBJECT!
LISTEN, THAT STONE IS NOT IN THIS HOTEL-IT'S PERHAPS IN THE HANDS OF A FENCE RIGHT NOW- IT WILL BE CUT INTO A DIFFERENT SHAPE OR INTO SMALL DIA-MONDS-YOU'D NEVER BE ABLE TO IDENT-IFY IT!

LIST RETRIEVES FRACTIONS OF RECENT LOSSES

Attempts to Start Rally Meet With Mild Response; Mart Closes Steady.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Efforts to work up a rally in today's stock market met with only half-hearted response and the best selected issues could do was to retrieve fractions of their recent losses.

While the business picture offered some encouragement to recovery proponents, trading forces seemingly were disinclined to get too far out on a buying limb pending more assurance the "correction" of the post-Munich peace upswing had about run its course.

Further study of the Anglo-American and Canadian trade treaties brought varying opinions in the financial sector regarding benefits which may accrue to the United States from the pacts.

The majority of stocks, followed a narrow groove. Closing prices were no better than steady. Transfers for the two hours were around 450,000 shares.

In the resistant division were U. S. Steel, Youngstown, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Curtis-Wright "A," Eastman Kodak, National Cash Register, American Telephone, N. Y. Central, Anaconda and Standard Oil of N. J. Bonds and commodities were irregular.

Indications consumer demand was running at a satisfactory rate were seen in the federal reserve figures placing department store sales for the country last week at only 1 per cent below those of the corresponding 1937 period.

CAPACITY CROWD ATTENDS PLAY

SHELBY—A capacity audience attended the three-act comedy, "Second Childhood," given Friday night at the high school auditorium as the annual junior play. About 600 persons attended the performance.

The cast was directed by C. M. Schindler. Music between acts and before the play was played by the 30-piece high school orchestra under the supervision of Russell Conger, director.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The Board of Education of the New Haven Rural School District, Huron County, Ohio, will receive sealed bids for the construction of a one-story fireproof addition to, and minor alterations of, the buildings of the New Haven Rural School District, New Haven, Ohio, until 12:00 noon on the 3rd day of December, 1938, at the office of L. E. Snyder, Clerk of the said Board of Education of the New Haven Rural School District, New Haven, Huron County, Ohio, at which time and place all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a satisfactory performance bond.

The contract documents, including plans and specifications, will be on file on and after November 12th at the office of the Clerk of the Board of Education of the New Haven Rural School District, Huron County, Ohio and at the office of A. W. Stoutenburg, Architect, at 26 E. Main Street, Norwalk, Ohio.

Copies of the documents may be obtained by depositing $5.00 with the Clerk, L. E. Snyder, or A. W. Stoutenburg, Architect, for each set of documents so obtained. The amount of the deposit for one set of documents will be refunded to each actual bidder who returns the plans and documents in good condition within ten days after the opening of bids. Two dollars will be refunded for each of all other sets of documents so returned. The Board of Education of the New Haven Rural School District reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any informalities in bidding.

A certified check or bank draft, payable to the treasurer of the Board of Education of the New Haven Rural School District, or a satisfactory bid bond executed by the bidder and a surety company in an amount equal to not less than 5 per cent of the bid, shall be submitted with each bid. No bid may be withdrawn after the scheduled closing time for receipts of bids, for at least thirty (30) days.

largest in years. Officers and nine directors were re-elected. They were Carl H. Stander, president; Dr. J. P. Stober, Lexington, first vice president; Harry Sotzen, Shelby, second vice president; John Pierce, treasurer; and Frank Beverstock, secretary. Jack Berger was reappointed assistant secretary.

Directors re-elected were Dr. Stober, Sotzen, Charles Morris and J. C. Morris, Shelby; Lloyd Andrews, Lucas; Albert Strater, T. R. Barnes, Carlton Fernyak and C. F. Routzahn, all of Mansfield.

Beverstock said in his annual report that the Richland County Auto club ranked eighth in the state in size with 1,650 members, a gain of 76 over last year. He reviewed the work of the School Boy patrol and the Safety Town traffic training school for preschool children, both of which are Auto club projects.

During the year the club purchased rubber coats and caps for every boy patrol in Mansfield, Shelby and at Madison high school, and also purchased the equipment for Safety Town.

John Pierce, chairman of the program committee, presided as toastmaster last night and introduced a number of guests from out of the county, including Edward Huber, auditor of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Columbus; Blake Darling, Big Prairie; and Ted Brindle of Ashland.

A floor show was presented after the dinner by the Gus Sun Theatrical Booking agency.

PLEDGES LAG

$7,616 Raised of $26,000 Fund Goal at Ashland.

ASHLAND—Volunteer workers in the tenth annual Ashland Community Chest drive found facing them the problem of fewer and smaller collections of money and pledges than for the same period of time the previous year after three days of soliciting. For the second successive day, pledges throughout the city lagged. On the first day of the campaign pledges showed a gain over the previous year, but have dropped the past two days.

Reports of three days campaigning Thursday night showed a total of $227 deficit over last year's contributions of the same time. At headquarters $7,389 had been pledged during the 1938 drive while in the previous year collections totaled $7,616.

The Chest goal has been set at $26,000, the same as last year. This represents the amount needed for the nine organizations sharing in the Chest to complete their programs for another year.

GALION—Funeral services for Roy Curtiss Bear, 58, of North Bloomfield township, Morrow county, seven miles southeast of Galion, will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Snyder Funeral home here. Rev. D. E. Syler, pastor of the Ebeneezer M. E. church will officiate. Burial will be made in Shauck cemetery near Johnsville.

east side, directly in front of the gleaming, steel-constructed cafeteria counters. The dining tables, with a seating capacity of 11 each, are set in four huge sections at both ends of the room.

The large basement, besides housing the modern main kitchen and bakery, includes the officers' smaller kitchen and dining room.

Inmates will be assured of piping hot meals at all times for the foods, prepared in the kitchen directly below the hall, are sent up to the dining room in small electric elevators as soon as they are removed from the stoves.

Also included in the basement floor are the vegetable storage and preparation rooms, pasteurizing room, ice plant, storage section for sugar, beans, flour and canned goods, butcher shop and numerous small refrigerators.

A mammoth electric dishwasher, which not only washes the utensils but sterilizes them at the same time, is located on the main floor, just off the dining room.

A large section has been cut out of the main wall on the west side to enable the delivery trucks to load and unload without entering the grounds inside the walled section of the institution.

Steel grills have been built on all the doors while the doors leading to the receiving platform are electrically operated.

Construction of the building, designed by state architects, was started in January by the Skilkin Bros., of Columbus, general contractors who employed all union labor on the project.

Westinghouse equipment was used in the refrigeration service and was installed by the Ohio Public Service company of Mansfield.

A Farmer's Diary

Soy Bean Harvest.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

WE harvested soy beans. The same combine that cut and threshed the buckwheat entered the southern field. Ten minutes of adjustment and all was ready. The bean stalks, bereft of leaves, stood like gaunt, lifeless skeletons across the field, bearing stiff, brittle seed pods at every joint. The first round, the tractor and combine wheels wreaked havoc on the border. In earlier times, the farmer cradled a full swath before the harvester entered, but that takes too long now. Besides there is not so great a loss as one would think, for when the field is finished, the combine cuts the outer swath the opposite way from which it went at first, and with the knives set low, the machine leaves little straw ungathered.

My wife stood with me on the platform of the combine for one long round. We watched the cleanly threshed, round yellow beans flow in a continuous stream from the sheetiron spout into the bin beneath. The large, moving reel was set so that each cleat went into the stalks in front of the moving knives and bent them forward. When severed, they fell upon the web that carried them up to the rotating cylinder. We heard the ripping, tearing sound of the entering bunches.

It was pleasant to stand there, on this autumn day, in warm sunshine, and brisk south wind, and be whisked about the harvest field with no effort of our own. The whir of wheels and the flow of power was constant and untiring. The painted, orange giant kept a steady pace.

When the machinery was canvas-covered for the night a hundred well-filled sacks stood in long, diagonal line from the outer corner toward the center of the field. A neighbor with his truck, helped haul them to the barn by lantern light.

When I know that these soy beans can be made into sixty different products to be used throughout the world, I am proud to raise so useful a crop.

2 INJURED AS CAR TURNS OVER NEAR BUCYRUS

Clevelanders Hurt While on Hunting Trip; Auto Hits Pole, Upsets.

BUCYRUS —Windfield Hindel, Cleveland, suffered a fractured left collar bone and several fractured ribs when the car in which he was riding with his wife and two companions, turned over during the heavy rain on the curve east of the Country club Friday morning. Hindel was taken to City hospital.

Mrs .Hindel was treated for a sprained ankle. Other occupants of the car were uninjured.

The accident occurred as the quartet were en route to Williamstown from their Cleveland homes for a hunting trip. The car struck a telephone pole, breaking it off and tore through a wire fence, landing on its side in a field after turning over several times.

RELIEF COSTS DROP

BUCYRUS—A drop of $144.22 was revealed in a check of relief costs in Crawford county during October. The decrease was largely due to the Jackson township allocation which dropped to $155.39. Increases were noted in Galion and Bucyrus costs.

Total allocations were $4,026.15 as compared with $4,192.37 the previous month.

CRAWFORD COURT NOTES

BUCYRUS — Bessemer Limestone and Cement company against the Weaver Brothers company, suit filed asking judgment of $133.25 alleged to be due on purchases of cement made by the defendant.

Probate court: Accounts filed in the estates of Etta Greene Schirmer and Abraham J. Lust. Distributive account filed in the estate of R. B. Hiltner.

Marriage license issued to Homer G. Steinmetz, 32, Wyandot county farmer, and Ethel C. Grau, 28, Bucyrus township.

CONSIDER SITES FOR PARK, POOL

Willard Councilmen Study Proposals for City Improvements.

WILLARD— Recommendations for a site for a swimming pool and park will probably be considered at a council meeting Monday night.

Representatives of the council and the general committee from the Rotary and Commercial club, with S. D. Downing of the Brown Associates of Marion, visited the proposed locations Thursday. Downing pointed out the advantages and disadvantages of the proposed sites as to price and location of water mains and sewers, and will estimate the price which may be paid for the land. Places visited on most of which the general committee has options are:

The Klopfenstein farm on state route 99 within the east corporation line; the T. W. Beelman lots and Mrs. Vernice Steiert land on U. S. route 224 east of Willard Heights; the W. R. and V. R. Richards lots on U. S. route 224 west of Willard Heights; the Witt Colish farm and the Jump estate on route 194 and lots belonging to the late Charles Hoffman estate on Main and Euclid streets.

conveying the mood of the music to the over-anxious audience which cut several numbers short by applauding before the completion of the selections.

In this same group the pianist presented three contrasting selections from Brahms. The "Capricio" was particularly delightful after the heavier movements of the Schumann offerings. It had a charmingly light manner, leading to a feeling of airiness and detachment.

The other two numbers were "Intermezzo" and "Rhapsody." Both were executed with a technical perfection which was particularly noteworthy because of the difficult fingering required.

Always a favorite of recitalists, Chopin was chosen by Miss Monath for the final two numbers. She played his impressionist melody, Nocturne, Opus 27, No. 2, and the more difficult and fast-moving Scherzo, Opus 39.

The other two artists who will appear in the series are Marian Anderson, contralto, and Zimbalist, violinist.

CAUCUS NEARS, PARTY LINES DRAWN TAUT

Whittemore, Baumhart, Kane in Field for Senate Post; Two in House Race.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—Battle lines were tightly drawn today as candidates for various posts in the new house and senate made ready for Republican and Democratic caucuses.

A sharp fight was in prospect over the appointment of majority floor leader of the senate with Frank E. Whittemore, (R, Akron) in the lead in early prognosticating. Sen. A. D. Baumhart, jr., (R, Vermilion) has announced that he will be after the job and Sen. Lawrence A. Kane, (R, Cincinnati) was conceded an outside chance.

Whittemore, who was elected to the senate at the Nov. 8 election, is a veteran of the upper house and a four-timer in the lower house. A former floor leader in the senate, his supporters contend he would lend the leadership more experience than either Baumhart or Kane. The latter, also served four years in the house.

Boomed for House.

Rep. William M. McCulloch, (R, Piqua) a keen efficient legislator in the 92nd general assembly, has announced his candidacy for house speaker and few observers conceded whatever opponents may crop up a chance of beating him for the post.

He may have opposition from Rep. J. Harry McGregor, (R, West LaFayette) one of the sparkplugs of the Republican minority in the last legislature. However, McGregor's friends were booming him for majority floor leader and claiming that he would be an excellent pilot.

Rep. R. R. Bangham, (R, Wilmington) may get the nod for chairman of the powerful finance committee of the house, while Sen. Fred L. Adams, (R, Bowling Green) has been mentioned for the chairmanship of the senate finance committee, although one of the three candidates for majority floor leader may be considered.

On the Democrat minority side, where there will be eight senators, Sen. Tom L. Gallagher, (D, Cleveland) and Sen. William M. Boyd, (D, Cleveland) are in the prominent spots for floor leader.

The house minority of 35 Democrats will consider the floor-leadership candidacies of Reps. Michael Feighan (D, Cleveland) George J. Harter, (D, Akron) and A. Lee Fahr, (D, Millersburg). Other potential candidates are Reps. Kenneth M. Petri, (D, Galion) and H. L. Mason, (D, Upper Sandusky).

Thomas Bateman, former senate clerk, was tipped as the man who will again hold that job, while three candidates were said to be in the running for the house clerkship. They were Paul H. Ballard, Jackson, and W. P. Van Ness Mechanicsburg, both Republican members of the 92nd general assembly; and Edward G. Gibson, former assistant senate clerk and parliamentarian in the senate for the last four years.

BUSHNELL FETES TOUCH GRIDDERS

Unbeaten Team, League Champions, Guest at Banquet.

Members of Bushnell school's undefeated champions of the grade school touch football league were honored at a banquet tendered by the Men's club at the Gasco club rooms, Adams street, last night. The dinner was prepared by wives of the members. Howard Sheldon, president of the club, served as toastmaster.

Harry Mehock, assistant athletic director of Mansfield high school, was the principal speaker and made the trophy presentation to Coach Harold Beech. The speakers included Principal Roy Spetka and Junior Brooks, captain of the team.

STUDENT, ILL A YEAR, DIES AT 14

Bernadine Kimmel Succumbs In Bucyrus; Funeral Monday.

NEW WASHINGTON — Miss Bernadine Kimmel, 14, New Washington high school sophomore, died in the Bucyrus City hospital yesterday after an illness of a year.

Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kimmel, three sisters, Mrs. Eleanor Fry, Mrs. Clarence Fry and Mrs. Mildred Conn of Shelby, and two brothers, Clarence of Shelby and Richard of New Washington. Funeral services will be held at the St. Bernard Catholic church at 9 a. m. Monday. Burial will be made in the church cemetery.

GIRL, 8, HIT

Child Suffers Head Cuts When Struck By Automobile.

Betty Eder, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Eder, 93 Lily street, was in the General hospital today suffering from head lacerations sustained when struck by an automobile on North Main street at 9 p. m. yesterday.

Police said the driver of the machine, Charles Bonin, R. D. 5, Mansfield, told them that the child ran in front of his car in front of the Friendly house. He was not held.

Up and Down THE STREET

Autumn arrived officially in September, but the removal of the goldfish from the Central park fountain today was Mansfield's best sign of approaching winter. The fish, which were taken from the fountain in nets by Jacob Rahm, parks superintendent, will be placed in the Liberty park lake during the winter. Rahm said it wouldn't harm the fish to stay in the fountain all winter, but he feared the fountain would be a hazard for children when it is covered with ice. It is drained after the fish are removed.

Dick Poling doesn't claim to be another Louis Bromfield, but the football record book that the Mansfield man compiled has a wide distribution. Poling recently had a request for the book from Pago Pago, which is several thousand miles southeast of Hawaii. Other orders for the record book came from Puerto Rico, and Honolulu, not to mention many state prisons in this country.

Bunnies and birds are not the only game attracting Mansfield hunters these days. Deer, too, are luring the nimrods to the mountains and woods. Willis Countryman of Butler, one of the old-timers at deer hunting; John Charles and C. W. Marks recently returned with a deer apiece. Wilbur M. Jameson, 205 Saxon road, accompanied by Henry Racherd and Vern Harp, brought down a four-point buck in the Pisgah Forest district of North Carolina.

There was a big delegation of Mansfielders in Columbus today attending the Ohio-Michigan football game—but the city's representation in the capital yesterday was a good sized one, too. There was at least a dozen city and county officials and employes there on business. Among them were Mayor Claude M. Hunter, Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist, City-WPA Engineer Glenn Weller, State Highway Engineer Boyd Wierman, County Commissioner C. L. Mitchell in one delegation; Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner and four of his staff attended a convention, while County Agent George B. Ganyard and County Superintendent of Schools Boyd Robinson also were at meetings.

WIDOW, 89, DIES

Mrs. Leonora Green Stricken in Home at Galion.

GALION — Mrs. Leonora H. Green, 89, widow of James Green, founder and first president of the Citizens National bank here, died at her home after an illness of a week.

Mrs. Green is survived by four sons, Howard and James of Galion, Dahl, west of Galion, and Frank of Chicago, and eight grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Green was a charter member of the Naomi chapter of the Eastern Star, Women's Relief corps, Rebekah lodge and First M. E. church.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Snyder funeral home with Rev. W. N. Robertson officiating. Burial will be in the Fairview cemetery.

EXPLAIN STATE JOB INSURANCE

Columbus Men to Outline New Law for Foremen Monday.

The operation of Ohio's new unemployment insurance law will be explained Monday night at the first of a series of technical meetings sponsored by the Mansfield-Shelby Foremen's club in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Speakers at the session, which is scheduled to open at 7:30 p. m., will be Dr. Arch D. Schultz, Columbus, engineer for the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, and Paul Daugherty, Columbus, representing the state industrial commission.

The meeting will be open to the public, Jay Cairns, vice president of the club, announced.

PLAN FOR PARTY

SHELBY—E. J. Laubbe, worthy master, presided when the regular meeting of Union Grange was held Friday night at the grange hall, near Shelby. Plans for a birthday party for Tuesday at the hall were completed. A pot-luck supper will feature at 6:30 p. m. A joint meeting of the Pomona and Union granges will be held at the hall Dec. 15 for a dinner meeting. A program and contests were held following the business meeting.

G. O. P. EXPENSE SET AT $2,672

County Group Reports Balance of $237; State Committee Has $64,000 Deficit.

Richland county Republicans spent $2,672 in the recent campaign to win the county for the state G. O. P. ticket and had a balance of $237 after election, according to the campaign expense account filed with the county board of elections by T. R. Barnes, treasurer of the county G. O. P. executive committee.

The party's expenditures were slightly more than the $2,638 the Democratic party spent in the county. Democrats, however, had a balance of $302.

Republicans listed contributions amounting to $2,909, with the Republican National committee, providing $565.

In the state campaign, Chairman Ed. D. Schorr, of the state Republican executive committee, said the party's expenses would total $160,000 and the committee would have a deficit of about $64,000.

The state Democratic committee filed a report with the secretary of state yesterday showing expenditures of $117,289 and contributions of $98,107, leaving a deficit of approximately $19,000.

Henry G. Brunner of Mansfield, manager of the Home Owners Loan corporation in Ohio, contributed $750 to the state Democratic campaign fund. The Robert J. Bulkley for Senator committee gave $3,000. Former Governor James M. Cox of Dayton gave $500.

Individual accounts showed Robert A. Taft, successful Republican candidate for U. S. senator, personally spent $2,468 in the campaign while two major committees supporting him contributed about $50,000.

Senator Bulkley, Taft's Democratic opponent, spent $1,424, and a committee directing his campaign spent $29,214 and had unpaid bills totaling $6,512.

Congressman Dudley A. White of Norwalk, successful Republican candidate for re-election in the 13th district, reported expenses totaling $1,908, the same as his contributions.

MRS. GEISSMAN TAKEN BY DEATH

Crawford Woman, 76, Succumbs at Home of Daughter.

BUCYRUS — Mrs. Rose Geissman, 76, a native of nearby Chatfield, died Friday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. T. Clady there. She had been bedfast for the past eight months.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Charles Peterson and Mrs. David Kalb of Bucyrus, and Mrs. Clady; a son, Jessie Klink of Chatfield township; three grandchildren, and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Monday at the Clady home, and at 2 p. m. at the Nazareth Lutheran church in Chatfield with Rev. Paul Dornbier officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

INFANT SON DIES

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Sheetz, 81 Orchard street, died today in the General hospital. Funeral services were to be held at the Wappner funeral home at 2 p. m. today with Rev. Paul Salesteé of the St. John Evangelical church officiating. Burial was to be in Mansfield cemetery.

HIRED ASSASSINS BLAMED IN KILLING OF N. Y. INVESTIGATOR

(By United Press)

NEW YORK — Police blamed hired gunmen today for the assassination of John N. O'Hara, 26, civic credit investigator for Dun and Bradstreet, Inc.

He was slain last night at the entrance of his apartment, where he lived with his widowed mother and sister. He had returned only two weeks ago from New Orleans, where he made an investigation of city finances, and on the basis of his investigations there and in several cities, approval of bond issues and other vital municipal transactions were at stake.

He lived quietly, worked hard and had few interests outside his office and home. He was known to his associates as a wizard with figures and to his employers as one of the most brilliant calculators in the business.

Two killers approached him as he stepped into the tunnel-like entrance leading to the courtyard of the apartment building, carrying a newspaper and a suit of clothes that he had picked up at the cleaner's on his way home.

Without a word both fired. He fell. They ran to the street, pursued by a policeman who lived in the building. They paused to fire two more shots at O'Hara, who lay dying, then sprang into an automobile where two accomplices were waiting.

The fact that they had paused to fire two more shots while they were being chased, convinced police more than anything else that they were professional killers.

Patrolman Joseph Monahan was leaving his apartment in the building at the time of the shooting, and he chased the assassins. His eight-year-old son was with him. One of the two final bullets ricocheted off the sidewalk and struck the child in the arm.

DIES AT AGE 84

W. C. Hering Was Once Bicycle Dealer in Mansfield.

William C. Hering, 84, former Mansfield bicycle dealer, died at the Masonic home in Springfield yesterday after an illness of two years. A native of Massillon, Mr. Hering operated a bicycle business in Mansfield until five years ago when he retired.

Surviving are a son, Clarence of Akron; a brother, Edward of Massillon, and a sister, Mrs. Flora Richeimer of Massillon. He was a member of the Mansfield lodge, 35. F. & A. M.; Mansfield council, 94; Mansfield chapter, 28; Mansfield commandery, 21, and Scottish Rite of Dayton.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Monday with Rev. Peter Young of the First Congregational church and Knights Templar lodge officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

SERVICES TODAY

Body of Emmett W. Gans Arrives In Mansfield For Burial.

Burial services were held at Mansfield cemetery today for Emmett William Gans, 75, a former resident of Mansfield, who died in Pasadena, Calif., Monday. Rev. David N. Roller of the First Presbyterian church officiated. Formerly associated with the old Aultman-Taylor company, Mr. Gans left Mansfield 30 years ago.

OPERATING RATE FOR PLANTS AT NEW 1938 HIGH

Increase in Payrolls Starts Upswing in Retail Buying, Lagging for Months.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The tempo of American business quickened again this week as factory wheels in leading basic industries began turning at the fastest rate this year.

Steel production, use of electric power, auto building, cotton manufacturing and new home construction all tilted still further upward, boosting industrial employment and expanding payrolls.

New dollars flowing into workers' pockets in factory centers started to trickle back into circulation across store counters as retail buying, laggard for many months, began to show signs of life.

Prices at New High.

The Associated Press index of industrial activity, in the seventh consecutive weekly rise, climbed to a new 1938 high.

The stock market tended slightly lower on the week. Profit-taking was reported behind frequent, short-lived selling flurries. Only a fortnight ago, the bulk of favored shares were selling at around their highs for the year. Some traders held the way selling dried up quickly when prices shaded lowered attested underlying market strength.

In other quarters, however, there was speculation as to whether "flattening out" of currently rising industrial activity might be in store after the turn of the year.

Wall Street failed to get much excited over signing by the United States of trade pacts with Great Britain and Canada granting reciprocal tariff concessions.

Business eyes during the week gave more than passing glance to steel mill operations, which rose 1.6 points to 62.6 per cent of capacity, the highest rate since Oct. 11 last year. In the comparable 1937 week, operations were at 36.4 per cent.

An even higher future steel rate was forecast as a reduction of $7 per ton in the price of tin plate was posted.

DIES AT AGE 73

Mrs. Susan Drumm, Mother of 14 Children, Stricken.

Mrs. Susan O. Drumm, 73, a resident of this city for the past 10 years, died at her home, 104 West First street, after a short illness. She was born in Hopewell township, Licking county, Dec. 11, 1864.

Mrs. Drumm was a member of the First M. E. church, the W. B. A. and Women's Relief corps here and the Eastern Star of Newark.

Not That It Matters

Will Bromfield Really Be Satisfied To Settle Down In Native County?

—By JANE WILLIAMS

MANSFIELDERS read with tongues in cheeks, a few weeks ago, that Louis Bromfield would forsake his centuries-old chateau in Senlis, France, to establish a home near Mansfield.

There was, and still is, considerable skepticism. Many feel that his desire to purchase a farm near here is merely a whim prompted by a combination of conditions in Europe and his very genuine homesick longing for his birthplace and boyhood home.

Undoubtedly the world-famous author will establish a home somewhere in this part of Ohio, and his children may grow up in it. But no home in the northern Ohio hills will hold Bromfield for long. He vows, with something of vehemence, that he will stay here seven or eight months a year, spending the rest of the year in travel or perhaps at the white-walled, river-washed Senlis chateau.

Bromfield, like the late O. O. McIntyre, has always been beset with a desire for a home near his birthplace, but like McIntyre, he will be content merely to possess the home, to feel that the roots of his existence are still here even though he spends little time here; that he can always come back to it when he gets tired of wandering.

IT is not uncommon for persons who write to suffer always from nostalgic longings, to promise themselves that "someday" they'll go back to the place that was "home" in their first years—but very few of them ever do, and if they do, it is only temporary.

Because what they are really looking for is something that is gone forever—a philosophy, a frame of mind, an outlook—and never can be re-captured.

Even a trip to the old swimmin' hole can't do the trick.

BROMFIELD, whose years abroad and intimate contact with the celebrities of the world have left him entirely without affectation or pose, had something of a soul-satisfying day of it Thursday when he hunted up old familiar places and roads and scenes.

He drove past the house on West Third street in which he was born.

When he pointed it out to his wife, Mary Bromfield, and his secretary, George Hawkins, the latter said: "Look! There's a plaque on the front of it. Probably marks it as the Bromfield birthplace."

"Don't be ridiculous," the novelist said. But Hawkins insisted on getting out of the car and going back to look. "There is a plaque on the house," he said when he returned to the car "but it just says 'Expert washing, ironing and mending by L. A. Bromfield!'" Even Bromfield joined in the giggles.

I'M never so homesick as when I am right in the Old Home Town. Possibly it's because I like everybody in it and if I live to be 95 I still will be kidding myself about writing a novel about it.

Went over last Saturday night—it's a Saturday night town—and talked for hours on street corners, in the "mill'nry store" and the general "racket" store.

Encountered an old friend of my mother's who admired the dark red dress I was wearing. "My goodness, but it's a pretty color," she said, "and wouldn't it make nice carpet-rags!"

She was so sincere about it, that only modesty prevented me from taking off the dress then and there and giving it to her for "carpet-rags."

IN the grocery store a clerk showed me a note he had that day from one of his customers. It was an order for groceries and read:

"George, give me a nice, big bunch of celery; a good, big dime's worth of onions; a nice cake of Fels Naphtha soap, a loaf of nice, fresh bread; a dozen eggs and I want them awful fresh; a peck of potatoes if they aren't too expensive; and a good quarter's worth of mixed apples."

And what I love about the little town is that George knew exactly what she wanted and she got it.

THE Museum of Modern Art Film library in New York City has compiled a short feature which will be released shortly to colleges, schools and museums for "study." The film will have scenes from early motion pictures which starred the four great stage tragediennes of the past generation—Eleanor Duse, Sara Bernhardt, Minnie Maddern Fiske and Mme. Rejane.

Everyone who remembers these great actresses when they were at their best will not be anxious to see the film, for all of them appeared in pictures when they were old, physically handicapped, and knew nothing of the new art and technique of picture dramas. Duse was past 60, ill, unhappy with poverty, and they cast her in a role of a girl of 20; Bernhardt had lost a limb and was old and obese when she played Queen Elizabeth on the screen.

Certainly there is little to be gained by a study of these films, and it seems unkind, even cruel, to the memory of women who were once the great actresses of the world.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Germans Have Too Much Pride Not To Frown On Purge of Jews By Nazis

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Writing about religious and racial hatred thirty years ago, Mark Twain claimed to be innocent of all such prejudice and said:

"All that I care to know is that a man is a human being—that is enough for me; he can't be any worse."

This is a rather despondent opinion, but a tempting criticism at a time when nature and the earth still are performing handsomely. But woe abounds, nevertheless, because, in the words of another American journalist, only man is vile. There is nothing wrong with the world that couldn't be cured by the exercise of those superior traits to which man alone lays claim but which are more conspicuously flouted by man than by any of the beasts.

Amid the moral and nervous shocks of the Nazi atrocities of last week a subtle but hopeful development has almost escaped notice. For the first time since Hitler came to power there is a feeling of pity for the German people and for Germany.

This comes of an honest belief that the Germans themselves have suffered more than they yet know in degradation and loss of self-respect.

Nobody in Germany as yet may dare express any revulsion but it has been expressed by the New Yorker Stats-Zeitung and Herold, which said, "in the names of our dear ones, we protest against desecration of the German name through fanatics in the ranks of the party in power who are trying to drag a great people into the mire of their sadistic lowness." A pulsebeat.

A realization is coming at last among the Americans who inherit and take pride in the German character that the Nazi regime is debasing that character at home and disgracing the German country before the world. This is no trivial matter, for the Nazis have always courted the moral support of the Americans, and they will not be able to disregard condemnation from this source.

The German people at home may share the hatred of this country as a nation which has been fired up by the Nazi propaganda, but they will still be sensitive to the opinion of their relatives here, which will filter through to them regardless of the censorship.

Defenders of the German name, character and culture cannot indorse, even by silence, a wanton campaign of murder, assault, burning and looting, followed by extortion and enslavement as representative of the German people. These Americans suffered much from patrioteering during the great war and after, and the Steuben societies fought against odds and unpopularity for the proposition that the many should not have to suffer for the misdoing of the few.

The atrocities in Germany were so mechanical, so well organized that there is no believing the claim of spontaneity. The Germans are not spontaneous or riotous, and there is ground for hoping therefore, that the decent people will be shamed by the horror and by expressions of disgust from their kinsmen here.

CHURCHGOERS TO GIVE THANKS AT UNION RITES

City Congregations to Join Wednesday, Thursday for Annual Services.

Thanksgiving day will be observed next Wednesday and Thursday in Mansfield churches with union services at St. Paul Lutheran, St. Matthew's Lutheran and First Christian churches, and other services at St. John's Evangelical and the First Lutheran churches.

The union service for downtown congregations will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday at First Christian church and will unite members of the First Methodist, First United Brethren, United Presbyterian, First Presbyterian, First Congregational and First Christian churches. Congregations of the Central Methodist Episcopal, St. Matthew's Lutheran and Park Avenue Baptist churches hold their union services at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at St. Matthew's church, and the St. Paul Lutheran and St. Luke's Lutheran will follow a standing custom and unite at 10 a. m. Thursday at St. Paul's.

Rev. H. H. Ford, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, will preach the sermon at the union service for the downtown churches. His subject will be "The Average Man's Thanksgiving." Music will be furnished by the choir of the Christian church.

Preaches at St. Matthew's.

The sermon at St. Matthew's Lutheran church will be given by Rev. Paul Hollingshead, pastor of the Central Methodist church.

Music will be furnished by the choir of the Lutheran church. Rev. Charles Sheriff, pastor of St. Matthew's, and Rev. Hayes M. Braker, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will take part in the service.

Rev. Herbert S. Garnes, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church, will deliver the Thanksgiving sermon at the union service at St. Paul church for members of the two congregations. The liturgical service will be conducted by Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor of the host church.

Music will include the anthem, "This is the Day Which the Lord Hath Made," sung by St. Paul's choir under the direction of Mrs. Herman L. Gilbert. O. L. Seybold will accompany the group at the organ. Miss Jane Weuthrick will sing a soprano solo. The congregation of St. Mark's Lutheran church has been invited to take part in this service.

The Thanksgiving service at St. John's Evangelical church will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday. Rev. Paul H. Saleste, pastor, will have as his sermon subject, "Let Us Give Thanks."

The First Lutheran church will hold its annual service at 9 a. m. Thursday, with Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor, preaching on "America Needs God." The choir presents a Thanksgiving cantata, "The Song of Thanksgiving," by Maumer, at 7:30 p. m. Sunday. The sermon will be given by Rev. Milton P. Englehardt, assistant pastor. His subject will be "Worshiping God."

Conducts Services

Rev. W. G. Weston, above, and son, William, of Elizabeth, Pa., will open a series of evangelistic meetings at 7:30 p. m. Sunday at the Grace Gospel Tabernacle, 85 East Third street. Rev. Weston is an evangelist in the Christian and Missionary Alliance, and will speak every evening at the tabernacle at 7:30.

MISSIONARY TO PREACH SUNDAY

Cincinnati Doctor Speaks Twice at South Main Church.

Dr. W. T. Reed of Cincinnati, Jewish missionary, will speak Sunday morning and evening at the South Main Street Evangelical church.

Dr. Reed is a minister and medical doctor and spent several years as a medical missionary in Korea. He is now serving as a missionary to the Jews in Cincinnati. His messages Sunday will be on the present crisis of the Jewish people in other countries.

The morning worship is at 10:30 and evening service at 7:30. The former will be under the direction of the Women's Missionary society, and will be their annual thank offering program.

JOIN IN CANTATA

Junior Chorus, South Main Choir To Present Program Dec. 18.

The combined Junior Civic Chorus and South Main Street Evangelical church choir will present the Christmas cantata, "Bethlehem," by Maunder, Sunday, Dec. 18, at the South Main church.

The two groups will be made up of 50 voices and will be under the direction of J. Frederick Wolf, director of the Junior chorus. Rehearsals for the cantata will begin at 2 p. m. Sunday at the First Lutheran church.

SERVICE AT TEMPLE

A special service of worship Sunday at Temple Emmanuel, 132 West Second street, was announced today by Rabbi David Rub. The service will begin at 11 a. m.

SIMPSON CHOIR TAKES PART IN SUNDAY SERVICE

Junior High Group to Sing at Congregational Church; Other Church Notes.

The John Simpson Junior high school A Cappella choir, directed by A. L. Derr, will join in 10:45 a. m. service Sunday at the First Congregational church. The choir will sing one number, "Prayer Perfect," by Stenson. The church choir will present "My Face Looks Up to Thee," by Schnecker, with a violin obbligato by Dale Bechtel.

Miss Louise Krause, organist, will play two selections, "Melody For the Bells of Bergliall Church," by Sibelius, and "Now Thank We All Our God," by Dupre.

Rev. Peter Young, pastor, will preach on the subject, "The Grace of Gratitude."

MUSICAL PROGRAM

Rachmaninoff's "Triumph Thanksgiving" sung by the senior choir, will be a feature of the musical program Sunday at the Park Avenue Baptist church during the 10 a. m. worship service.

Other numbers during the service will include a vocal solo, "Lord Make Me Strong," by Miss Gladys Shingleton, and three organ selections by Lawrence S. Frank, minister of music. He will play "Cantabile," by Franck, "O Haupt vil Blut und Wunden," by Reger, and "Fugue in G Major," by Bach. Rev. Hayes M. Braker, pastor, will speak on the subject, "Judas, Not Iscariot."

Church events scheduled for next week are dart-ball practice and orchestra rehearsal both at 7:30 p. m. Monday, and a meeting of the Earnest Workers' class at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. A. O. Widders, 26 Poplar street.

'SOUL AND BODY'

Lesson Sermon Will Be Read at Scientist Church Sunday.

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "Yea, in the way of thy judgments, O Lord, have we waited for thee; the desire of our soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee" (Isaiah 26:8).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.... Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?" (Matthew 6:24, 25).

FILLS PULPIT

Lucas Pastor to Preach Tomorrow at St. Matthew's Church.

Rev. Carl Driscoll, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church at Lucas, will be guest pastor Sunday at St. Mark's Lutheran church at the 10:30 a. m. service. His subject will be, "Closer Than a Brother."

St. Mark's has been without a pastor since Rev. J. Louis Wolf resigned Nov. 1 to accept the pastorate of a Toledo church.

HONORS DEAD

St. John's Church to Conduct Memorial Service Sunday.

The annual memorial service for deceased members of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church will be held during the regular service at 10 a. m. Sunday.

Rev. Paul H. Saleste will preach on the subject, "Only Shadows."

The annual Thanksgiving service of the church will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday, with Rev. Saleste speaking on "Let Us Give Thanks".

Meetings of church groups scheduled during the week are the Ladies guild at 2 p. m. Wednesday, the official board Friday evening, and choir rehearsal at 7:15 p. m. Friday.

CHURCH MARKS BIBLE SUNDAY

St. Paul Pastor Speaks On 'Word of God In 1,000 Tongues.'

A service in recognition of the fact that the Bible has now been translated in 1,000 tongues will be held at 10:30 a. m. Sunday at St. Paul Lutheran church.

Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor, will speak on the subject, "The Word of God In a Thousand Tongues." The order of service as prescribed by the American Bible Society for observing Universal Bible Sunday will be used.

The church choir sings "Rejoice in the Lord," by McPhail. Members of the church will bring foodstuffs for Thanksgiving baskets which will be distributed by the missionary society.

GUEST MINISTER

M. E. Superintendent to Conduct Services at First Church.

Rev. Howard W. Peterson, superintendent of the Mansfield District Methodist Episcopal churches, will be guest minister at the First Methodist church, Sunday during the worship service at 10:30 a. m.

The service will bring to a close the National Fellowship week observance at the church. The church choir, directed by James Weber, will sing "Appear, Thou Light Divine" by Morrison, and a hymn anthem "I Love to Tell the Story", by Fischer.

SPEAKS AT MISSION

Mrs. Charles Young of the Union Gospel Mission will be guest speaker at the Christian and Missionary Alliance, 282 South Main street, Sunday at 3 p. m. Mrs. Young will speak on the subject, "The Prodigal Son and Daughter."

YOUNG PEOPLE JOIN IN SOCIAL

Thanksgiving Event of Four Rural M. E. Churches Set for Monday Evening.

A Thanksgiving social for young people of the four Methodist churches in Weller and Franklin townships will be held at 7:30 p. m. Monday at Weller high school.

A program including games, has been planned for the evening. About 80 young people from the Olivesburg churches are expected to attend.

Plans for leadership training classes were made at a meeting of workers of the church schools of the four churches Thursday night at Adario.

Named to complete arrangements for the classes were Warren Smith, Tom Crabbe, Ralph K. Oswalt and George Weimer. The workers also voted as their goal for the coming year, a 20 per cent increase in attendance. Missionary superintendents elected at the meeting were Merle S. Wolf of Adario; Mrs. Lee C. Henry of Olivesburg; Mrs. Harry Sir Louis of Franklin, and Walter Hursh of Pavonia.

Members of the World Service councils of the four churches elected at a recent united board meeting of the four churches at Pavonia, were announced today. They are Walter Hursh, chairman, Robert Eggerton, assistant, Pavonia council; Frend Clingan, chairman, Mrs. Harry Sir Louis, assistant, Franklin council; Charles Barnes, chairman, Merle Wolf, assistant, Adario council, and Miss Abigail Swineford, chairman, and Mrs. Lee C. Henry, assistant, Olivesburg council.

A meeting of the official board of the Pavonia church will be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the church.

GIVES CANTATA

First Lutheran Choir Presents 'Song of Thanksgiving.'

A Thanksgiving cantata, "The Song of Thanksgiving," by Maumer, will be presented by the choir of the First Lutheran church at 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

The choir of 30 voices will be under the direction of L. A. Cook, and will be accompanied by Mrs. Clayson Bell, organist. Rev. Milton P. Engelhardt, assistant pastor, will speak on the subject, "Worshiping God."

At 9 a. m. Thanksgiving day the church will hold its annual Thanksgiving service with Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor, speaking on "America Needs God."

Nomination of officers for next year will be held at a meeting of the Senior Luther League of the church at 6:30 p. m. Sunday. Topic for discussion during the meeting will be "Stewardships." Music for the meeting will include a saxophone duet by Harold Duda and Ralph Arlin. The nominating committee is made up of Catherine Oates, chairman, George Klipple and Marjorie Siegfried.

Research at the Florida experiment station during its 50 years of activity has resulted in the earning and saving of $25,000,000 annually for the state's farmers.

DISCUSS YOUTH, ITS PERSONALITY

Forum Session Tomorrow Will Be Led by Two Physicians.

"Christian Youth and Its Personality" will be the general theme of the weekly meeting of the Community Christian Youth Forum at 6:30 p. m. Sunday at the First Congregational church.

Leading the discussion will be two Mansfield physicians, Dr. W. E. Wygant, and Dr. D. D. Deeds. The subject will be "Human Physiology and Personality" and will include the physical and mental influences that effect personality.

The worship service will be in charge of Robert Meese, chairman.

READ THIS FIRST

Sara Sue Davis, attractive young widow, with the aid of her mother-in-law, rents a cottage near the campus of Rice Institute, in Texas, in preparation for the launching of a unique business venture.

CHAPTER 2

Mr. Robert Osborne Towne, Rice Institute senior, was a man with no troubles whatsoever.

Once he had known trouble. His dad had been bankrupt in what the older people called a "depression." The net result, on Bob, had been to miss two years of schooling between high school and college. But that had been five years ago. Now Bob was on top of the well-known world.

The well-known world consisted of:

a. Rice Institute, and the incidental remainder of Texas.

b. The Rice Owls, holders of the Southwestern championship in football.

As to the university. Bob had it eating from his hand. He was, in short, president of the student body—testimonial enough to his popularity.

And as to the team—his heavy woolen gray sweater already held a blue R and two arm stripes in blue. A Rice letterman can have only three football stripes. And his senior year was yet to be played.

Oh, yes—one other thing. Perhaps it ought to be listed as "a" above, rather than "c." It was Geraldine Pomeroy, alias "Peaches." She was Bob Towne's girl. Or so everybody said, including Peaches herself.

She was plenty good looking. She had a figure like—like, well, you just ought to see Peaches in a bathing suit! And old man Pomeroy had more millions than East Texas has oil wells. Yep, Mr. Robert Osborne Towne was a man with no troubles whatsoever!

He hung his curly head out of a window of East Hall dormitory now and yodeled, or shrieked, or screamed: "EE-YEA-A-A-A-HAH-ah-ah-ah YEOW!"

This translated, to whomsoever heard it, "Hello, gang, it's great to see you all again!" Many a collegian hailed back. Everybody liked handsome Bob Towne. And handsome Bob Towne liked everybody. His class once voted him the student most-likely-to-succeed; he grinned and said phoney, he had already succeeded. He not only was a shade ahead of everybody else at such fine arts as trucking and doing the big apple, but he originated dance steps of his own. Remember how "The Owl Hop" went like wildfire over Houston last winter? Bob Towne originated that. He and Peaches Pomeroy. People said Bob would go into business with Peaches' father after graduation. Bob hadn't considered that. He hadn't even proposed marriage to Peaches yet; for that matter. To Bob, the past was forgotten, the future was nebulous, the present a glorious time to live.

He stuck his head out the dormitory window again now, because he saw a familiar figure shuffling across the green lawn from Main boulevard.

"HEY, you Calculus!"

"Welcome, Mistuh Bob, suh!" Calculus shouted back.

The two were greeting each other across 100 yards or so of space. Bob's room was on fifth floor, East Hall Tower — most prized rooms at Rice Institute. Fifty or so lesser collegians, scattered here and there, heard their conversation. All but the freshmen knew both men.

One strange gentleman, though, heard the boisterous conversation. He was walking with a green umbrella. He wore horn-rimmed spectacles and a very serious expression. He was plainly dressed. He cocked his head to one side, looking up in his appraisal of Bob Towne, and as he approached Calculus he addressed the colored man.

"Pardon," he said, "but could you tell me that student's name?"

"He ain't done nothin', Mistuh Professuh, suh."

"Oh no! No, no. I have no thought of disciplinary action whatsoever. Just — ah — curious." The professor was positively blushing, Calculus noted. Calculus grinned. The negro was keen at reading character.

"He's Mistuh Bob Towne, suh. He the big football end man."

"Oh, yes. Quite so. Thank you."

The professor bowed and went his way. The colored man made a mental note to check up on him. Every September brought four or five new faces to the Rice faculty. Calculus liked to have them all pigeon-holed in his mind. He took pride in being friends with all of them, and here was one a little bit "different."

The colored man labored up the five flights of stairs, pausing every step to accept greetings from upperclassmen, to poke and laugh and enjoy himself. Finally he tapped on Bob's door, hat in hand.

Their conversation lasted half an hour. Calculus had to bring Bob up to date on campus gossip, on Houston news. Incidentally he had to take charge of Bob's cleaning and press, shoe shining, and such incidental services. Both enjoyed the chat. And Calculus had a special mission to complete. He led up to it as soon as he could.

"Mistuh Bob, you jes has to come over and patronize our new bizness 'stablishment, suh."

"What business? You in business?"

"Naw suh! Not me. Ah mean —ah just helps. Miss Sara Sue. Ah works in the yard and kitchen for her. She got her sign out, though."

"What sign?"

"That'n she made. We hung it two hours ago, suh. Look—you can see it down there, through yo window. Right over the hedge. 'Tween them two bigges' ellum trees. You see?"

"Nerts, Calculus, that's a quarter of a mile. What kind of business? Who is Miss Sara Sue? What does the sign say?"

"I can't say, suh."

"Didn't you hang it for her?"

"You knows I cain't read, Mistuh Bob. What for you—"

"You been around Rice ten years and—"

"—fo'teen, suh—"

"—and still can't read! Calculus, I'm going to educate you if I have to torture you, you lazy, lowdown—what kind of sign, Calculus?" The two were grinning. Good friends cannot insult each other in words. It's better than drawing room polish if the respect is genuine.

But Calculus didn't get to answer. Another senior burst into the room.

"Say, Bob!" He was beaming. "You heard about the new store across the street? The club, or whateve it is? There's a sign up, and an ad in the Thresher, and—"

"That's whut I been tryin'—" but Calculus couldn't interrupt.

"—and they say it's a red-headed cutie offering to teach a new course. Fancy that!"

"Hunh!" Bob just grunted.

"Yeah, let's go see it. Come on."

The two collegians left Calculus shining shoes, and descended to the domitory green. Half a dozen cronies joined them. The talk was loud, rabid, gay. They had heard of the new Love Cottage, too. They all walked toward the campus third gate, thence north half a block or so, and joined 25 or 30 boys and girls who were already standing there, staring. The sign on the cottage lawn read:

SARA SUE DAVIS, Inc.
—COUNSEL IN ROMANCE—
Come In.

Some of the group held copies of The Thresher, student newspaper, just off the press. Heads were huddled over the papers.

The editor really had missed his cue, for he had given front-page as usual to football and registration, whereas a three-inch publicity "brief" inside, explaining Sara Sue Davis, Inc., commanded practically all the readers' attention and comment.

CAUCUS NEARS, PARTY LINES DRAWN TAUT

Whittemore, Baumhart, Kane in Field for Senate Post; Two in House Race.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—Battle lines were tightly drawn today as candidates for various posts in the new house and senate made ready for Republican and Democratic caucuses.

A sharp fight was in prospect over the appointment of majority floor leader of the senate with Frank E. Whittemore, (R, Akron) in the lead in early prognosticating. Sen. A. D. Baumhart, jr., (R, Vermilion) has announced that he will be after the job and Sen. Lawrence A. Kane, (R, Cincinnati) was conceded an outside chance.

Whittemore, who was elected to the senate at the Nov. 8 election, is a veteran of the upper house and a four-timer in the lower house. A former floor leader in the senate, his supporters contend he would lend the leadership more experience than either Baumhart or Kane. The latter, also served four years in the house.

Boomed for House.

Rep. William M. McCulloch, (R, Piqua) a keen efficient legislator in the 92nd general assembly, has announced his candidacy for house speaker and few observers conceded whatever opponents may crop up a chance of beating him for the post.

He may have opposition from Rep. J. Harry McGregor, (R, West LaFayette) one of the sparkplugs of the Republican minority in the last legislature. However, McGregor's friends were booming him for majority floor leader and claiming that he would be an excellent pilot.

Rep. R. R. Bangham, (R, Wilmington) may get the nod for chairman of the powerful finance committee of the house, while Sen. Fred L. Adams, (R, Bowling Green) has been mentioned for the chairmanship of the senate finance committee, although one of the three candidates for majority floor leader may be considered.

On the Democrat minority side, where there will be eight senators, Sen. Tom L. Gallagher, (D, Cleveland) and Sen. William M. Boyd, (D, Cleveland) are in the prominent spots for floor leader.

The house minority of 35 Democrats will consider the floor-leadership candidacies of Reps. Michael Feighan (D, Cleveland) George J. Harter, (D, Akron) and A. Lee Fair, (D, Millersburg). Other potential candidates are Reps. Kenneth M. Petri, (D, Galion) and H. L. Mason, (D, Upper Sandusky).

Thomas Bateman, former senate clerk, was tipped as the man who will again hold that job, while three candidates were said to be in the running for the house clerkship. They were Paul H. Ballard, Jackson, and W. P. Van Ness Mechanicsburg, both Republican members of the 92nd general assembly; and Edward G. Gibson, former assistant senate clerk and parliamentarian in the senate for the last four years.

BUSHNELL FETES TOUCH GRIDDERS

Unbeaten Team, League Champions, Guest at Banquet.

Members of Bushnell school's undefeated champions of the grade school touch football league were honored at a banquet tendered by the Men's club at the Gasco club rooms, Adams street, last night. The dinner was prepared by wives of the members. Howard Sheldon, president of the club, served as toastmaster.

Harry Mehock, assistant athletic director of Mansfield high school, was the principal speaker and made the trophy presentation to Coach Harold Beech. The speakers included Principal Roy Spetka and Junior Brooks, captain of the team.

STUDENT, ILL A YEAR, DIES AT 14

Bernadine Kimmel Succumbs In Bucyrus; Funeral Monday.

NEW WASHINGTON — Miss Bernadine Kimmel, 14, New Washington high school sophomore, died in the Bucyrus City hospital yesterday after an illness of a year.

Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kimmel; three sisters, Mrs. Eleanor Fry, Mrs. Clarence Fry and Mrs. Mildred Conn of Shelby, and two brothers, Clarence of Shelby and Richard of New Washington. Funeral services will be held at the St. Bernard Catholic church at 9 a. m. Monday. Burial will be made in the church cemetery.

GIRL, 8, HIT

Child Suffers Head Cuts When Struck By Automobile.

Betty Eder, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Eder, 93 Lily street, was in the General hospital today suffering from head lacerations sustained when struck by an automobile on North Main street at 9 p. m. yesterday.

Police said the driver of the machine, Charles Bonin, R. D. 5, Mansfield, told them that the child ran in front of his car in front of the Friendly house. He was not held.

Up and Down THE STREET

Autumn arrived officially in September, but the removal of the goldfish from the Central park fountain today was Mansfield's best sign of approaching winter. The fish, which were taken from the fountain in nets by Jacob Rahm, parks superintendent, will be placed in the Liberty park lake during the winter. Rahm said it wouldn't harm the fish to stay in the fountain all winter, but he feared the fountain would be a hazard for children when it is covered with ice. It is drained after the fish are removed.

Dick Poling doesn't claim to be another Louis Bromfield, but the football record book that the Mansfield man compiled has a wide distribution. Poling recently had a request for the book from Pago Pago, which is several thousand miles southeast of Hawaii. Other orders for the record book came from Puerto Rico, and Honolulu, not to mention many state prisons in this country.

Bunnies and birds are not the only game attracting Mansfield hunters these days. Deer, too, are luring the nimrods to the mountains and woods. Willis Countryman of Butler, one of the old-timers at deer hunting; John Charles and C. W. Marks recently returned with a deer apiece. Wilbur M. Jameson, 205 Saxon road, accompanied by Henry Racherd and Vern Harp, brought down a four-point buck in the Pisgah Forest district of North Carolina.

There was a big delegation of Mansfielders in Columbus today attending the Ohio-Michigan football game—but the city's representation in the capital yesterday was a good sized one, too. There was at least a dozen city and county officials and employes there on business. Among them were Mayor Claude M. Hunter, Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist, City-WPA Engineer Glenn Weller, State Highway Engineer Boyd Wierman County Commissioner C. L. Mitchell in one delegation; Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner and four of his staff attended a convention, while County Agent George B. Ganyard and County Superintendent of Schools Boyd Robinson also were at meetings.

WIDOW, 89, DIES

Mrs. Leonora Green Stricken in Home at Galion.

GALION — Mrs. Leonora H. Green, 89, widow of James Green, founder and first president of the Citizens National bank here, died at her home after an illness of a week.

Mrs. Green is survived by four sons, Howard and James of Galion, Dahl, west of Galion, and Frank of Chicago, and eight grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Green was a charter member of the Naomi chapter of the Eastern Star, Women's Relief corps, Rebekah lodge and First M. E. church.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Snyder funeral home with Rev. W. N. Robertson officiating. Burial will be in the Fairview cemetery.

EXPLAIN STATE JOB INSURANCE

Columbus Men to Outline New Law for Foremen Monday.

The operation of Ohio's new unemployment insurance law will be explained Monday night at the first of a series of technical meetings sponsored by the Mansfield-Shelby Foremen's club in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Speakers at the session, which is scheduled to open at 7:30 p. m., will be Dr. Arch D. Schultz, Columbus, engineer for the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, and Paul Daugherty, Columbus, representing the state industrial commission.

The meeting will be open to the public. Jay Cairns, vice president of the club, announced.

PLAN FOR PARTY

SHELBY—E. J. Laubbe, worthy master, presided when the regular meeting of Union Grange was held Friday night at the grange hall, near Shelby. Plans for a birthday party for Tuesday at the hall were completed. A pot-luck supper will feature at 6:30 p. m. A joint meeting of the Pomona and Union granges will be held at the hall Dec. 15 for a dinner meeting. A program and contests were held following the business meeting.

G. O. P. EXPENSE SET AT $2,672

County Group Reports Balance of $237; State Committee Has $64,000 Deficit.

Richland county Republicans spent $2,672 in the recent campaign to win the county for the state G. O. P. ticket and had a balance of $237 after election, according to the campaign expense account filed with the county board of elections by T. R. Barnes, treasurer of the county G. O. P. executive committee.

The party's expenditures were slightly more than the $2,638 the Democratic party spent in the county. Democrats, however, had a balance of $302.

Republicans listed contributions amounting to $2,909, with the Republican National committee, providing $565.

In the state campaign, Chairman Ed. D. Schorr, of the state Republican executive committee, said the party's expenses would total $160,000 and the committee would have a deficit of about $64,000.

The state Democratic committee filed a report with the secretary of state yesterday showing expenditures of $117,289 and contributions of $98,107, leaving a deficit of approximately $19,000.

Henry G. Brunner of Mansfield, manager of the Home Owners Loan corporation in Ohio, contributed $750 to the state Democratic campaign fund. The Robert J. Bulkley for Senator committee gave $3,000. Former Governor James M. Cox of Dayton gave $500.

Individual accounts showed Robert A. Taft, successful Republican candidate for U. S. senator, personally spent $2,468 in the campaign while two major committees supporting him contributed about $50,000.

Senator Bulkley, Taft's Democratic opponent, spent $1,424, and a committee directing his campaign spent $29,214 and had unpaid bills totaling $6,512.

Congressman Dudley A. White of Norwalk, successful Republican candidate for re-election in the 13th district, reported expenses totaling $1,908, the same as his contributions.

MRS. GEISSMAN TAKEN BY DEATH

Crawford Woman, 76, Succumbs at Home of Daughter.

BUCYRUS — Mrs. Rose Geissman, 76, a native of nearby Chatfield, died Friday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. T. Clady there. She had been bedfast for the past eight months.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Charles Peterson and Mrs. David Kalb of Bucyrus, and Mrs. Clady; a son, Jessie Klink of Chatfield township; three grandchildren, and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Monday at the Clady home, and at 2 p. m. at the Nazareth Lutheran church in Chatfield with Rev. Paul Dornbier officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

INFANT SON DIES

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Sheetz, 81 Orchard street, died today in the General hospital. Funeral services were to be held at the Wappner funeral home at 2 p. m. today with Rev. Paul Salcste of the St. John Evangelical church officiating. Burial was to be in Mansfield cemetery.

HIRED ASSASSINS BLAMED IN KILLING OF N. Y. INVESTIGATOR

(By United Press)

NEW YORK — Police blamed hired gunmen today for the assassination of John N. O'Hara, 26, civic credit investigator for Dun and Bradstreet, Inc.

He was slain last night at the entrance of his apartment, where he lived with his widowed mother and sister. He had returned only two weeks ago from New Orleans, where he made an investigation of city finances, and on the basis of his investigations there and in several cities, approval of bond issues and other vital municipal transactions were at stake.

He lived quietly, worked hard and had few interests outside his office and home. He was known to his associates as a wizard with figures and to his employers as one of the most brilliant calculators in the business.

Two killers approached him as he stepped into the tunnel-like entrance leading to the courtyard of the apartment building, carrying a newspaper and a suit of clothes that he had picked up at the cleaner's on his way home.

Without a word both fired. He fell. They ran to the street, pursued by a policeman who lived in the building. They paused to fire two more shots at O'Hara, who lay dying, then sprang into an automobile where two accomplices were waiting.

The fact that they had paused to fire two more shots while they were being chased, convinced police more than anything else that they were professional killers.

Patrolman Joseph Monahan was leaving his apartment in the building at the time of the shooting, and he chased the assassins. His eight-year-old son was with him. One of the two final bullets ricocheted off the sidewalk and struck the child in the arm.

DIES AT AGE 84

W. C. Hering Was Once Bicycle Dealer in Mansfield.

William C. Hering, 84, former Mansfield bicycle dealer, died at the Masonic home in Springfield yesterday after an illness of two years. A native of Massillon, Mr. Hering operated a bicycle business in Mansfield until five years ago when he retired.

Surviving are a son, Clarence of Akron; a brother, Edward of Massillon, and a sister, Mrs. Flora Richeimer of Massillon. He was a member of the Mansfield lodge, 35, F. & A. M.; Mansfield council, 94; Mansfield chapter, 28; Mansfield commandery, 21, and Scottish Rite of Dayton.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Monday with Rev. Peter Young of the First Congregational church and Knights Templar lodge officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

SERVICES TODAY

Body of Emmett W. Gans Arrives In Mansfield For Burial.

Burial services were held at Mansfield cemetery today for Emmett William Gans, 75, a former resident of Mansfield, who died in Pasadena, Calif., Monday. Rev. David N. Roller of the First Presbyterian church officiated. Formerly associated with the old Aultman-Taylor company, Mr. Gans left Mansfield 30 years ago.

OPERATING RATE FOR PLANTS AT NEW 1938 HIGH

Increase in Payrolls Starts Upswing in Retail Buying, Lagging for Months.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The tempo of American business quickened again this week as factory wheels in leading basic industries began turning at the fastest rate this year.

Steel production, use of electric power, auto building, cotton manufacturing and new home construction all tilted still further upward, boosting industrial employment and expanding payrolls.

New dollars flowing into workers' pockets in factory centers started to trickle back into circulation across store counters as retail buying, laggard for many months, began to show signs of life.

Prices at New High.

The Associated Press index of industrial activity, in the seventh consecutive weekly rise, climbed to a new 1938 high.

The stock market tended slightly lower on the week. Profit-taking was reported behind frequent, short-lived selling flurries. Only a fortnight ago, the bulk of favored shares were selling at around their highs for the year. Some traders held the way selling dried up quickly when prices shaded lowered attested underlying market strength.

In other quarters, however, there was speculation as to whether "flattening out" of currently rising industrial activity might be in store after the turn of the year.

Wall Street failed to get much excited over signing by the United States of trade pacts with Great Britain and Canada granting reciprocal tariff concessions.

Business eyes during the week gave more than passing glance to steel mill operations, which rose 1.6 points to 62.6 per cent of capacity, the highest rate since Oct. 11 last year. In the comparable 1937 week, operations were at 36.4 per cent.

An even higher future steel rate was forecast as a reduction of $7 per ton in the price of tin plate was posted.

Not That It Matters

Will Bromfield Really Be Satisfied To Settle Down In Native County?

—By JANE WILLIAMS

MANSFIELDERS read with tongues in cheeks, a few weeks ago, that Louis Bromfield would forsake his centuries-old chateau in Senlis, France, to establish a home near Mansfield.

There was, and still is, considerable skepticism. Many feel that his desire to purchase a farm near here is merely a whim prompted by a combination of conditions in Europe and his very genuine homesick longing for his birthplace and boyhood home.

Undoubtedly the world-famous author will establish a home somewhere in this part of Ohio, and his children may grow up in it. But no home in the northern Ohio hills will hold Bromfield for long. He vows, with something of vehemence, that he will stay here seven or eight months a year, spending the rest of the year in travel or perhaps at the white-walled, river-washed Senlis chateau.

Bromfield, like the late O. O. McIntyre, has always been beset with a desire for a home near his birthplace, but like McIntyre, he will be content merely to possess the home, to feel that the roots of his existence are still here even though he spends little time here; that he can always come back to it when he gets tired of wandering.

IT is not uncommon for persons who write to suffer always from nostalgic longings, to promise themselves that "someday" they'll go back to the place that was "home" in their first years—but very few of them ever do, and if they do, it is only temporary.

Because what they are really looking for is something that is gone forever—a philosophy, a frame of mind, an outlook—and never can be re-captured.

Even a trip to the old swimmin' hole can't do the trick.

BROMFIELD, whose years abroad and intimate contact with the celebrities of the world have left him entirely without affectation or pose, had something of a soul-satisfying day of it Thursday when he hunted up old familiar places and roads and scenes.

He drove past the house on West Third street in which he was born.

When he pointed it out to his wife, Mary Bromfield, and his secretary, George Hawkins, the latter said: "Look! There's a plaque on the front of it. Probably marks it as the Bromfield birthplace."

"Don't be ridiculous," the novelist said. But Hawkins insisted on getting out of the car and going back to look. "There is a plaque on the house," he said when he returned to the car "but it just says 'Expert washing, ironing and mending by L. A. Bromfield!'" Even Bromfield joined in the giggles.

I'M never so homesick as when I am right in the Old Home Town. Possibly it's because I like everybody in it and if I live to be 95 I still will be kidding myself about writing a novel about it.

Went over last Saturday night—it's a Saturday night town—and talked for hours on street corners, in the "mill'nry store" and the general "racket" store.

Encountered an old friend of my mother's who admired the dark red dress I was wearing. "My goodness, but it's a pretty color," she said, "and wouldn't it make nice carpet-rags!"

She was so sincere about it, that only modesty prevented me from taking off the dress then and there and giving it to her for "carpet-rags."

IN the grocery store a clerk showed me a note he had that day from one of his customers. It was an order for groceries and read:

"George, give me a nice, big bunch of celery; a good, big dime's worth of onions; a nice cake of Fels Naphtha soap, a loaf of nice, fresh bread; a dozen eggs and I want them awful fresh; a peck of potatoes if they aren't too expensive; and a good quarter's worth of mixed apples."

And what I love about the little town is that George knew exactly what she wanted and she got it.

THE Museum of Modern Art Film library in New York City has compiled a short feature which will be released shortly to colleges, schools and museums for "study." The film will have scenes from early motion pictures which starred the four great stage tragediennes of the past generation—Eleanor Duse, Sara Bernhardt, Minnie Maddern Fiske and Mme. Rejane.

Everyone who remembers these great actresses when they were at their best will not be anxious to see the film, for all of them appeared in pictures when they were old, physically handicapped, and knew nothing of the new art and technique of picture dramas. Duse was past 60, ill, unhappy with poverty, and they cast her in a role of a girl of 20; Bernhardt had lost a limb and was old and obese when she played Queen Elizabeth on the screen.

Certainly there is little to be gained by a study of these films, and it seems unkind, even cruel, to the memory of women who were once the great actresses of the world.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Germans Have Too Much Pride Not To Frown On Purge of Jews By Nazis

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Writing about religious and racial hatred thirty years ago, Mark Twain claimed to be innocent of all such prejudice and said:

"All that I care to know is that a man is a human being—that is enough for me; he can't be any worse."

This is a rather despondent opinion, but a tempting criticism at a time when nature and the earth still are performing handsomely. But woe abounds, nevertheless, because, in the words of another American journalist, only man is vile. There is nothing wrong with the world that couldn't be cured by the exercise of those superior traits to which man alone lays claim but which are more conspicuously flouted by man than by any of the beasts.

Amid the moral and nervous shocks of the Nazi atrocities of last week a subtle but hopeful development has almost escaped notice. For the first time since Hitler came to power there is a feeling of pity for the German people and for Germany.

This comes of an honest belief that the Germans themselves have suffered more than they yet know in degradation and loss of self-respect.

Nobody in Germany as yet may dare express any revulsion but it has been expressed by the New Yorker Stats-Zeitung and Herold, which said, "in the names of our dear ones, we protest against desecration of the German name through fanatics in the ranks of the party in power who are trying to drag a great people into the mire of their sadistic lowness." A pulsebeat.

A realization is coming at last among the Americans who inherit and take pride in the German character that the Nazi regime is debasing that character at home and disgracing the German country before the world. This is no trivial matter, for the Nazis have always courted the moral support of the Americans, and they will not be able to disregard condemnation from this source.

The German people at home may share the hatred of this country as a nation which has been fired up by the Nazi propaganda, but they will still be sensitive to the opinion of their relatives here, which will filter through to them regardless of the censorship.

Defenders of the German name, character and culture cannot indorse, even by silence, a wanton campaign of murder, assault, burning and looting, followed by extortion and enslavement as representative of the German people. These Americans suffered much from patrioteering during the great war and after, and the Steuben societies fought against odds and unpopularity for the proposition that the many should not have to suffer for the misdoing of the few.

The atrocities in Germany were so mechanical, so well organized that there is no believing the claim of spontaneity. The Germans are not spontaneous or riotous, and there is ground for hoping therefore, that the decent people will be shamed by the horror and by expressions of disgust from their kinsmen here.
